Kremlin Boss Tosses Out Comments Freely

MOSCOW (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev was in his best cocktail party form again Wednesday night, tossing off comments on a wide variety of topics. Some remarks of the Soviet Communist party boss:

"I know the United States doesn't have the kind of rockets we have and you won't have them soon."

President Eisenhower, secretary of State Dulles and all other American leaders would be welcomed in Moscow "as dear friends."

Marshal Georgi Zhukov "did not turn out well as a political figure but as a military figure he was a remarkable man."

A British correspondent suggested to Khrushchev that the Soviet halt firing of its rockets.

"We have to test them," the Soviet leader said. "What can we do, pickle them?"

"Put them in a museum," a reporter suggested.

"No room," Khrushchev replied. "Let's sink them all at sea. We'd be happy to do that if you do."

AN AMERICAN correspondent asked, "What if we don't have the same type to sink?"

"Certainly," Khrushchev said, "I know you don't have the kind of rockets we have, and you won't have them soon."

Khrushchev said Zhukov, who was recently ousted from the Defense Ministry and from high party posts, is in Moscow "on a leave he fully deserves."

Hungarian To Miss U.S. Chess Tourney

DALLAS (AP)—Paul Benko, 29, a Hungarian who defected to the United States last summer, won't be able to play in the Dallas international chess tournament unless some changes are made, a tournament official says.

Rep. William Ayres (R-Ohio) reported earlier at Akron, Ohio, he had sent a telegram to officials in Dallas requesting that Benko be allowed to play in the tournament, which starts Nov. 30. Ayres helped Benko enter the United States last summer after he defected during a chess tournament in Iceland.

Emile Gilutin, an official of the Dallas tournament, said the telegram had not yet arrived but that he was aware of the situation.

Benko said he was refused entry because he was not a citizen of any country and a contestant from Hungary already was entered.

Gilutin said Benko must have misunderstood letters sent to him from Dallas.

Gilutin explained:

"The tournament is limited to eight entries, one each of any nation. Laszlo Szabo has already been selected as the Hungarian participant. Benko, who is an outstanding chess player, was advised of this and asked to be an alternate."

Winds, Rain Damage Poles

Heavy wind storms and rain caused considerable damage in this area last night, especially to telephone and utility lines.

The local phone company reported that six poles were down in the area. About 60 customers were affected company officials said. This number was reduced to 10 at noon today.

Ohio Midland Power Co. officials said service was hampered in the Knollwood Village, Route 188 and Dunkel Road areas.

Meanwhile, the weatherman today said heavy winds and cooler temperature would prevail here tonight. Mostly cloudy and cool is predicted tomorrow.

Rainfall for the 24-hour period amounted to .70 inch. The heavy precipitation pushed the local surplus for November to .61 inches.

Some Navy Men, But Not All, To Leave Pole Soon

MCMURDO SOUND (AP) — The Navy's "old explorers," veterans of the long dark winter in the antarctic, were told today some but not all of them might get out by Christmas.

Rear Adm. George J. Dufek, Navy commander in the antarctic, told the men due for rotation they could leave any time their one-year assignments are up and their jobs completed, if weather and ice conditions permits planes and ships to take them out.

Nineteen veterans of the recently ended polar winter have left. More than 60 others remain.

Dufek said two Navy ships are due to leave New Zealand Nov. 22 with supplies for the U.S. stations at Little America and McMurdo Sound. They will take out some veterans and others will be flown home, the admiral said.

French Rap Aid to Tunisia

America, Britain Told of Paris View

PARIS (AP) — Foreign Minister Christian Pineau said today the French government will consider any American or British delivery of arms to Tunisia contrary to Atlantic solidarity.

Pineau told the National Assembly's Foreign Affairs Committee that Britain and the United States "are about to effect delivery of arms to Tunisia."

Pineau announced the Cabinet's opposition to arms for France's former protectorate after an all-night series of meetings and exchanges between Premier Felix Gaillard and British and American envoys.

U. S. Ambassador Amory Houghton delivered a note to Gaillard Wednesday stating the United States wants to go ahead with arms deliveries to Tunisia. By doing so, the Americans hope to stave off Tunisian acceptance of Soviet-bloc arms offered by Egypt.

* * *

THE FRENCH are reluctant to see any arms flow into Tunisia for fear they will funnel on to the Algerian rebels.

Pineau said he would confer on the problem with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles when he visits Washington next week — a trip which has been planned for more than a week.

In London, a British Foreign Office spokesman said Britain had not yet supplied any military equipment to newly independent Tunisia but that the question of such shipments "has been and still is under consideration."

Moonshine Sampled During Court Trial

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A court jury sniffed and sipped of moonshine Wednesday and convicted a man accused of possessing a five-gallon jug of the stuff on which no tax had been paid.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Robert Nunez and Revenue Agent Oliver Sills laboriously upended the jug to pour samples into a paper cup.

The cup was passed around, some taking a smell, others a sip.

Federal Judge W. J. Barker commented from the bench: "If you want a chaser, gentlemen, we will supply you with that."

Gaping Hole 60 Feet Deep Threatens Homes in Seattle

SEATTLE (AP) — Seventy - five persons were evacuated today as a gaping hole 60 feet deep engulfed a North Side boulevard and threatened to gulp down nine homes and an apartment house.

The ugly black crater, the stubby ends of broken water, gas and sewer pipes jutting from its sides, was 150 feet long and 75 feet wide.

At one point the lip of the hole was only nine feet from the foundation of one of the threatened homes.

The hole, caused by a break in a trunk sewer 145 feet under Ravenna boulevard, nearly doubled in size during the space of a few minutes. The edge crumbled away at the rate of about a foot a minute.

The dirt was being sucked out through the bottom of the hole into the sewer.

Fifty of those evacuated at the orders of police were residents of the nine homes and the five-unit apartment house directly threatened by the hole. The others lived in homes flooded by backed up sewers.

Workmen just managed to save tons of steel beams and a $25,000 crane sent to the scene only Wednesday. The steel beams were to have been used to shore up the sides of the hole.

Several of the beams sunk into place Wednesday were twisted like copper wire when the rapid crumbling of the sides of the hole restarted.

A member of the city engineers staff said 8,000 cubic yards of dirt had been sucked away.

The hole was in a neighborhood of homes in the $15,000 to $20,000 class a few blocks north of the University of Washington.

Water backed up in sewers also threatened a number of other streets in the area.

City officials said the trunk sewer could have broken years ago, with the underground hole gradually growing, until the great mass above collapsed.

Control Law Idea Gets Cold Shoulder

Ike Administration Not Interested in Renewal of Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration gave a cool reception today to a proposal that Congress quickly enact a standby law providing wage, price, credit and rationing controls.

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) suggested the action Wednesday at a two-day conference of 1,200 businessmen-members of the National Defense Executive Reserve.

Government officials attending the sessions indicated clearly, however, the administration would neither recommend nor request the standby power.

"Unquestionably the administration would accept standby authority if Congress voted it," one high mobilization official said, adding: "But we won't ask for it. This administration is committed to a policy of avoiding direct economic controls if possible."

He and others who commented along the same line declined to be quoted by name.

* * *

THE RESERVISTS are business executives who have served in Washington and stand ready to return in event of mobilization.

Capehart told them that the perils now facing the country make it advisable to set up the legal framework for wartime economic regulation.

He said that although he abhors controls, there are circumstances in which they are "necessary to preserve our free enterprise system against the forces of panic and runaway inflation that inevitably come with great emergencies."

But Sen. Bennett (R-Utah) said that "controls won't solve the problem."

"Every business man I have talked to agrees that the steam has gone out of inflation," he said. "By the time Congress convenes again I think we will have had at least one month when living costs have not gone up."

Bennett called instead for limited spending. He said that if more money is needed for missile development and other defense needs, as President Eisenhower said in a radio-TV talk Wednesday night, the extra amount ought to be shaved off other activities to prevent deficit spending.

Marine Convicted For Brutality to Sailors in Brig

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP) — One U. S. Marine was convicted and another acquitted today as the Navy began trials of 16 Leathernecks accused of brutality to brig prisoners at Sasebo Naval Base.

Cpl. Glenn W. Fredericks, 21, Fleetmute, Alaska, was sentenced to 14 days at hard labor and reduced to private rank for punching a sailor while Fredericks was on guard duty in the Navy brig at the south Japan Navy base.

A similar charge against Cpl. Dayton W. Dierkson, 21, St. Lawrence, S. D., was dropped when the complainant told the court he could not remember being hit by Dierkson. The Marine is due for discharge Friday.

Hike in Space Age Weapons Spending Said Must by Ike

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — President Eisenhower Wednesday night warned the cost of space age weapons means a "very considerable" boost in defense spending is coming and that Congress will have to face the tough task of cutting nonessential programs.

He said Americans won't tolerate sacrificing security to the worship of a balanced budget. This impending boost will mean sharp cuts in some nonmilitary spending programs in next years budget to offset a part of the hike, he said.

Some of these programs may have to be eliminated entirely, the President declared and added that "pressure groups will wail in anguish."

Eisenhower did not estimate how much defense spending will have to be increased after paring the budget wherever possible on nonmilitary categories. But he did say: "By whatever amount savings fail to equal the additional costs of security, our total expenditures will go up.

"Our people will rightly demand it. They will not sacrifice security worshiping a balanced budget.

"But we do not forget, either, that over the long term a balanced budget is one indispensable aid in keeping our economy, and our total security, strong."

In a nationwide television-radio address, the President also called for a stepped-up educational program of training scientists to meet the Russian threat. He suggested the program include such incentives as fellowship grants to provide more science teachers. But he did not go into detail on his suggestion.

He also called for greater concentration on basic research, saying "the warning lies in the fast rate of increase of the Soviet effort" in that field of science.

Making the second of a series of "chins up" talks designed to bolster United States confidence in free world defense capabilities, Eisenhower said Russia's Challenge is being met and will continue to be met.

He cautioned that the Soviet Union's recent achievements in development of weapons of the future mean "there is danger ahead for free men everywhere."

The President, addressing an overflow audience in the 6,000-seat Municipal Auditorium, recalled that Nazi dictator Hitler once boasted he would bury the free world.

"Not enough people took him at his word," Eisenhower said in likening the situation then to the Russian threat today.

"We shall not make that mistake again," he declared.

Eisenhower's assertion that defense spending on missiles and other weapons of the future must be hiked by "a very considerable figure" quite likely killed hopes for a tax cut next year.

After outlining some individual and specific costs, the President said: "There has been much discussion lately about whether Soviet technological break-throughs in particular areas may have suddenly exposed us to immediately increased danger.

"As I pointed out last week, this is not the case. But these accomplishments have provided us all with renewed evidence of Soviet competence in science and techniques important to modern warfare. We must, and do, regard this as a time for another critical re-examination of our entire defense system."

In his address, the President indicated some areas in which increased spending loomed:

1. The stepped-up dispersal of Strategic Air Command bases.
2. Improvements of the warning system for any enemy attack.
3. Development of an active missile defense against missiles.
4. Additional money where needed in the development of long-range missiles.
5. A pay raise for military personnel.

9 Bodies Sighted from Lost Airliner

BULLETIN

HONOLULU (AP) — The Navy announced today that a search plane from the carrier Philippine Sea had sighted nine bodies in the water in the area where a Pan American Airways passenger plane disappeared last Friday.

The Philippine Sea's report said one body appeared to be in an airplane seat.

The plane "Romance Of the Skies," with 44 persons aboard, vanished on a routine flight from San Francisco to Honolulu some time after 5:04 p.m. last Friday.

The greatest peacetime search in the history of Pacific plane disasters has been in progress since.

The Philippine Sea's search plane was about 75 miles from the carrier when it radioed the sighting.

Probers Seek Gangster Data From 'Tutor'

WASHINGTON (AP)—C. Don (The Professor) Modica, who witnesses say tutors gangsters' sons in mathematics and the social graces, was called today to testify about New York's garbage disposal rackets.

The special Senate committee investigating rackets announced it wants to quiz him about his associations with Albert Anastasia, the recently slain executioner for Murder, Inc., and with Vincent J. Squillante, a Mafia mobster, described as Anastasia's godson.

Witnesses have named Anastasia's son Umberto as one of Modica's pupils.

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said Modica and Squillante's brother Nunzio will be important witnesses about racketeering and gunplay in the $50 million a year business of hauling garbage from business places and homes in New York.

The committee has heard testimony about murders, beatings and arson which Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) contends marked Vincent Squillante's rise to power as head of a veritable "business empire" in garbage rackets.

Modica was described by Kennedy as a shadowy figure in underworld circles, a doctor of philosophy, and once a respected member of the New York University faculty. The committee has placed in evidence a staff report that Modica has a record of "convictions for grand larceny and other crimes" and serves as a tutor to children of crime "syndicate mobsters."

Mansfield Boy, 16, Killed by Police During Car Chase

NEWARK (AP)—Police shot and killed a Mansfield boy early today as he fled from a stolen car.

Chief Lester L. Hall said Fred Johnson, about 16, died in Newark City Hospital. Four Newark policemen fired 14 shots at him after he jumped from the car, allowing it to ram a police cruiser.

Only one bullet hit Johnson, Chief Hall said. He said the boy escaped several weeks ago from a detention home in Mansfield, apparently stole a car there and drove to Mount Vernon Wednesday night. There, he abandoned the car and took another. Chief Hall said two police cruisers cornered Johnson about four blocks from the center of Newark, but he jumped from the car while it was still moving.

U.S. Hinting Time Near for 'Moon' Firing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A spokesman for the U. S. space satellite program, Project Vanguard, says American scientists are "now pretty close" to asking that the launching pad at Cape Canaveral, Fla., be cleared for firing the first U.S. satellite test sphere.

Announced American plans call for launching small test spheres next month and firing the first fully developed satellite in March.

A spokesman for the Grand Central Rocket Co., Mentone, Calif., said his firm was notified by the Navy Tuesday that the first U.S. satellite, a sphere 6.4 inches in diameter, would go aloft Dec. 1.

In Washington, the Navy said no exact date has been set, although it said it still plans firings next month.

The first Soviet satellite was launched Oct. 4. The second one was sent up Nov. 3 with a small dog aboard. Radio equipment on both satellites now is dead and the dog, Laika, is believed to have died inside Sputnik II.

Moscow radio said Wednesday night that Russian scientists are sure Laika "was quite well and comfortable to the end."

Two Accidents Injure Three In Circleville Area Today

Three persons were injured in two area auto accidents today according to the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

Two were hurt in a single-car crash on Route 23 and 752 about 11 miles north of Circleville at 6:15 a. m.

Harold Gilmore, 24, Route 2, Circleville, and Myrna Lou Gilmore, 17, same address, were rushed to Mercy Hospital for injuries suffered when thrown from an auto driven by Clarence Gilmore, 19.

The man was treated for back injuries and the girl suffered a broken foot. The driver was not injured.

* * *

ACCORDING to deputies Dwight Radcliff and John Wolford, Gilmore said his car went out of control during this morning's heavy rain.

The car, traveling north on Route 23, struck a mail box, veered on for 66 feet striking a stop sign, then continued for 129 feet before crashing into a wire fence and posts. The impact tossed both passengers from the auto.

Deputy Radcliff said the car was heavily damaged and that several feet of fence and posts were torn down.

The second crash, involving two cars, was at Route 22 and the Canal Road about one mile west of Circleville at 10:10 a. m.

Thomas Boyer, 63, of 115 E. Mill St., suffered possible fractured ribs and abrasions of the ankle when his auto collided with an auto driven by William R. Claypoole, 29, Loveland.

Deputy Radcliff said Boyer's car, headed west on Route 22, had pulled over to the right to allow cars to pass from the rear before attempting to make a left turn onto Canal Road.

After the last rear car had passed Boyer attempted to make the turn but his vehicle was struck broadside by Claypoole's auto which was approaching from the opposite direction The deputy said both cars were heavily damaged.

U. S. Health Chief Cites Jap Recurrence

Federal Agency Says Over Million New Cases Tallied in Week

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dr. Leroy E. Burney, U. S. surgeon general, said today that Asian flu may have started its second trip around the world.

Here to attend a meeting of the American Public Health Assn., Dr. Burney said that Japan had been hit by a second wave of the disease, with 300,000 new cases.

"It is a possibility that the United States will be hit a second time," he said.

Meanwhile, the U. S. Public Health Service reported in Washington that there were 1,100,000 new cases of Asian Flu in 38 states during the week ended Nov. 9, based on reports from state health authorities.

The service reported that a number of states reported fewer new cases of influenza and influenza-like diseases last week but various other states reported continued high incidence.

* * *

THE SERVICE also reported that deaths from pneumonia and influenza in 114 large cities increased by only 4 per cent during the week ended Nov. 9 when compared with the previous week. There had been an 11 per cent increase during the week ended Nov. 2.

The 887 deaths from pneumonia and influenza last week ran three times the 291 in the corresponding 1956 week.

Since Sept. 1 there have been 2,410 more deaths from influenza and pneumonia than in the similar 1956 span. Nearly 90 per cent of the excess occurred in the last six weeks.

Willie Mays Denied House Due to Color

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Willie Mays' attempt to buy a house here failed Wednesday because he is a Negro.

The spectacular 27-year-old San Francisco Giants centerfielder offered the $37,500 the owner asked for a new house, but was turned down after a wait of several days. The owner said there was great neighborhood pressure against the deal.

Walter A. Gnesdiloff, who is still offering the house at the same price — but not to Mays—said:

"I'm just a union working man and I'd never get another job if I sold this house to that baseball player. I feel sorry for him, and if the neighbors say it would be OK I'd do it."

Gnesdiloff, a small-scale builder and contractor in the upper middle class area, said two property owners he works for put pressure on him not to sell to Mays and neighbors objected by telephone.

"I've never been through this kind of stuff and I'm not even mad about it now," the normally exuberant Mays said.

Mays' wife, Marguerite, wasn't quite as philosophical about it.

"Down in Alabama where we come from," she said, "you know your place, and that's something, at least. But up here it's all a lot of camouflage. They grin in your face and then deceive you."

Whitehall Man Held as Bank Thug

COLUMBUS (AP) — A 24-year-old service station manager has been charged with the $3,600 robbery of the Pickerington Bank Co. Sept. 20.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation identified him as Bill Evan Sparks of Whitehall.

Federal agents said he admitted he was the "Ivy League bandit" who robbed the bank.

The FBI said he was arrested at his home late Wednesday afternoon and arraigned on bank robbery charges before U. S. Commissioner Robert Newlon.

The hole, caused by a break in a trunk sewer 145 feet under Ravenna boulevard, nearly doubled in size during the space of a few minutes. The edge crumbled away at the rate of about a foot a minute.

The dirt was being sucked out through the bottom of the hole into the sewer.

Fifty of those evacuated at the orders of police were residents of the nine homes and the five-unit apartment house directly threatened by the hole. The others lived in homes flooded by backed up sewers.

Workmen just managed to save tons of steel beams and a $25,000 crane sent to the scene only Wednesday. The steel beams were to have been used to shore up the sides of the hole.

Several of the beams sunk into place Wednesday were twisted like copper wire when the rapid crumbling of the sides of the hole restarted.

A member of the city engineers staff said 8,000 cubic yards of dirt had been sucked away.

The hole was in a neighborhood of homes in the $15,000 to $20,000 class a few blocks north of the University of Washington.

Water backed up in sewers also threatened a number of other streets in the area.

City officials said the trunk sewer could have broken years ago, with the underground hole gradually growing, until the great mass above collapsed.

Control Law Idea Gets Cold Shoulder

Ike Administration Not Interested in Renewal of Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration gave a cool reception today to a proposal that Congress quickly enact a standby law providing wage, price, credit and rationing controls.

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) suggested the action Wednesday at a two-day conference of 1,200 businessmen-members of the National Defense Executive Reserve.

Government officials attending the sessions indicated clearly, however, the administration would neither recommend nor request the standby power.

"Unquestionably the administration would accept standby authority if Congress voted it," one high mobilization official said, adding: "But we won't ask for it. This administration is committed to a policy of avoiding direct economic controls if possible."

He and others who commented along the same line declined to be quoted by name.

• • •

THE RESERVISTS are business executives who have served in Washington and stand ready to return in event of mobilization.

Capehart told them that the perils now facing the country make it advisable to set up the legal framework for wartime economic regulation.

He said that although he abhors controls, there are circumstances in which they are "necessary to preserve our free enterprise system against the forces of panic and runaway inflation that inevitably come with great emergencies."

But Sen. Bennett (R-Utah) said that "controls won't solve the problem."

"Every business man I have talked to agrees that the steam has gone out of inflation," he said. "By the time Congress convenes again I think we will have had at least one month when living costs have not gone up."

Bennett called instead for limited spending. He said that if more money is needed for missile development and other defense needs, as President Eisenhower said in a radio-TV talk Wednesday night, the extra amount ought to be shaved off other activities to prevent deficit spending.

Marine Convicted For Brutality to Sailors in Brig

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP) — One U. S. Marine was convicted and another acquitted today as the Navy began trials of 16 Leathernecks accused of brutality to brig prisoners at Sasebo Naval Base.

Cpl. Glenn W. Fredericks, 21, Fleetmute, Alaska, was sentenced to 14 days at hard labor and reduced to private rank for punching a sailor while Fredericks was on guard duty in the Navy brig at the south Japan Navy base.

A similar charge against Cpl. Dayton W. Dierkson, 21, St. Lawrence, S. D., was dropped when the complainant told the court he could not remember being hit by Dierkson. The Marine is due for discharge Friday.

Hike in Space Age Weapons Spending Said Must by Ike

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — President Eisenhower Wednesday night warned the cost of space age weapons means a "very considerable" boost in defense spending is coming and that Congress will have to face the tough task of cutting nonessential programs.

He said Americans won't tolerate sacrificing security to the worship of a balanced budget. This impending boost will mean sharp cuts in some nonmilitary spending programs in next years budget to offset a part of the hike, he said.

Some of these programs may have to be eliminated entirely, the President declared and added that "pressure groups will wail in anguish."

Eisenhower did not estimate how much defense spending will have to be increased after paring the budget wherever possible on nonmilitary categories. But he did say: "By whatever amount savings fail to equal the additional costs of security, our total expenditures will go up.

"Our people will rightly demand it. They will not sacrifice security worshiping a balanced budget.

"But we do not forget, either, that over the long term a balanced budget is one indispensable aid in keeping our economy, and our total security, strong."

In a nationwide television-radio address, the President also called for a stepped-up educational program of training scientists to meet the Russian threat. He suggested the program include such incentives as fellowship grants to provide more science teachers. But he did not go into detail on his suggestion.

He also called for greater concentration on basic research, saying "the warning lies in the fast rate of increase of the Soviet effort" in that field of science.

Making the second of a series of "chins up" talks designed to bolster United States confidence in free world defense capabilities, Eisenhower said Russia's Challenge is being met and will continue to be met.

He cautioned that the Soviet Union's recent achievements in development of weapons of the future mean "there is danger ahead for free men everywhere."

The President, addressing an overflow audience in the 6,000-seat Municipal Auditorium, recalled that Nazi dictator Hitler once boasted he would bury the free world.

"Not enough people took him at his word," Eisenhower said in likening the situation then to the Russian threat today.

"We shall not make that mistake again," he declared.

Eisenhower's assertion that defense spending on missiles and other weapons of the future must be hiked by "a very considerable figure" quite likely killed hopes for a tax cut next year.

After outlining some individual and specific costs, the President said: "There has been much discussion lately about whether Soviet technological break-throughs in particular areas may have suddenly exposed us to immediately increased danger.

"As I pointed out last week, this is not the case. But these accomplishments have provided us all with renewed evidence of Soviet competence in science and techniques important to modern warfare. We must, and do, regard this as a time for another critical re-examination of our entire defense system."

In his address, the President indicated some areas in which increased spending loomed:

1. The stepped-up dispersal of Strategic Air Command bases.
2. Improvements of the warning system for any enemy attack.
3. Development of an active missile defense against missiles.
4. Additional money where needed in the development of long-range missiles.
5. A pay raise for military personnel.

9 Bodies Sighted from Lost Airliner

BULLETIN

HONOLULU (AP) — The Navy announced today that a search plane from the carrier Philippine Sea had sighted nine bodies in the water in the area where a Pan American Airways passenger plane disappeared last Friday.

The Philippine Sea's report said one body appeared to be in an airplane seat.

The plane "Romance Of the Skies," with 44 persons aboard, vanished on a routine flight from San Francisco to Honolulu some time after 5:04 p.m. last Friday.

The greatest peacetime search in the history of Pacific plane disasters has been in progress since.

The Philippine Sea's search plane was about 75 miles from the carrier when it radioed the sighting.

Probers Seek Gangster Data From 'Tutor'

WASHINGTON (AP)—C. Don (The Professor) Modica, who witnesses say tutors gangsters' sons in mathematics and the social graces, was called today to testify about New York's garbage disposal rackets.

The special Senate committee investigating rackets announced it wants to quiz him about his associations with Albert Anastasia, the recently slain executioner for Murder, Inc., and with Vincent J. Squillante, a Mafia mobster, described as Anastasia's godson.

Witnesses have named Anastasia's son Umberto as one of Modica's pupils.

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said Modica and Squillante's brother Nunzio will be important witnesses about racketeering and gunplay in the $50 million a year business of hauling garbage from business places and homes in New York.

The committee has heard testimony about murders, beatings and arson which Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) contends marked Vincent Squillante's rise to power as head of a veritable "business empire" in garbage rackets.

Modica was described by Kennedy as a shadowy figure in underworld circles, a doctor of philosophy, and once a respected member of the New York University faculty. The committee has placed in evidence a staff report that Modica has a record of "convictions for grand larceny and other crimes" and serves as a tutor to children of crime "syndicate mobsters."

Mansfield Boy, 16, Killed by Police During Car Chase

NEWARK (AP)—Police shot and killed a Mansfield boy early today as he fled from a stolen car.

Chief Lester L. Hall said Fred Johnson, about 16, died in Newark City Hospital. Four Newark policemen fired 14 shots at him after he jumped from the car, allowing it to ram a police cruiser.

Only one bullet hit Johnson, Chief Hall said. He said the boy escaped several weeks ago from a detention home in Mansfield, apparently stole a car there and drove to Mount Vernon Wednesday night. There, he abandoned the car and took another. Chief Hall said two police cruisers cornered Johnson about four blocks from the center of Newark, but he jumped from the car while it was still moving.

U.S. Hinting Time Near for 'Moon' Firing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A spokesman for the U. S. space satellite program, Project Vanguard, says American scientists are "now pretty close" to asking that the launching pad at Cape Canaveral, Fla., be cleared for firing the first U.S. satellite test sphere.

Announced American plans call for launching small test spheres next month and firing the first fully developed satellite in March.

A spokesman for the Grand Central Rocket Co., Mentone, Calif., said his firm was notified by the Navy Tuesday that the first U.S. satellite, a sphere 6.4 inches in diameter, would go aloft Dec. 1.

In Washington, the Navy said no exact date has been set, although it said it still plans firings next month.

The first Soviet satellite was launched Oct. 4. The second one was sent up Nov. 3 with a small dog aboard. Radio equipment on both satellites now is dead and the dog, Laika, is believed to have died inside Sputnik II.

Moscow radio said Wednesday night that Russian scientists are sure Laika "was quite well and comfortable to the end."

U. S. Health Chief Cites Jap Recurrence

Federal Agency Says Over Million New Cases Tallied in Week

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dr. Leroy E. Burney, U. S. surgeon general, said today that Asian flu may have started its second trip around the world.

Here to attend a meeting of the American Public Health Assn., Dr. Burney said that Japan had been hit by a second wave of the disease, with 300,000 new cases.

"It is a possibility that the United States will be hit a second time," he said.

Meanwhile, the U. S. Public Health Service reported in Washington that there were 1,100,000 new cases of Asian Flu in 38 states during the week ended Nov. 9, based on reports from state health authorities.

The service reported that a number of states reported fewer new cases of influenza and influenza-like diseases last week but various other states reported continued high incidence.

• • •

THE SERVICE also reported that deaths from pneumonia and influenza in 114 large cities increased by only 4 per cent during the week ended Nov. 9 when compared with the previous week. There had been an 11 per cent increase during the week ended Nov. 2.

The 887 deaths from pneumonia and influenza last week ran three times the 291 in the corresponding 1956 week.

Since Sept. 1 there have been 2,410 more deaths from influenza and pneumonia than in the similar 1956 span. Nearly 90 per cent of the excess occurred in the last six weeks.

Willie Mays Denied House Due to Color

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Willie Mays' attempt to buy a house here failed Wednesday because he is a Negro.

The spectacular 27-year-old San Francisco Giants centerfielder offered the $37,500 the owner asked for a new house, but was turned down after a wait of several days. The owner said there was great neighborhood pressure against the deal.

Walter A. Gnesdiloff, who is still offering the house at the same price — but not to Mays—said:

"I'm just a union working man and I'd never get another job if I sold this house to that baseball player. I feel sorry for him, and if the neighbors say it would be OK I'd do it."

Gnesdiloff, a small-scale builder and contractor in the upper middle class area, said two property owners he works for put pressure on him not to sell to Mays and neighbors objected by telephone.

"I've never been through this kind of stuff and I'm not even mad about it now," the normally exuberant Mays said.

Mays' wife, Marguerite, wasn't quite as philosophical about it.

"Down in Alabama where we come from," she said, "you know your place, and that's something, at least. But up here it's all a lot of camouflage. They grin in your face and then deceive you."

Two Accidents Injure Three In Circleville Area Today

Three persons were injured in two area auto accidents today according to the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

Two were hurt in a single-car crash on Route 23 and 752 about 11 miles north of Circleville at 6:15 a. m.

Harold Gilmore, 24, Route 2, Circleville, and Myrna Lou Gilmore, 17, same address, were rushed to Mercy Hospital for injuries suffered when thrown from an auto driven by Clarence Gilmore, 19.

The man was treated for back injuries and the girl suffered a broken foot. The driver was not injured.

• • •

ACCORDING to deputies Dwight Radcliff and John Wolford, Gilmore said his car went out of control during this morning's heavy rain.

The car, traveling north on Route 23, struck a mail box, veered on for 66 feet striking a stop sign, then continued for 129 feet before crashing into a wire fence and posts. The impact tossed both passengers from the auto.

Deputy Radcliff said the car was heavily damaged and that several feet of fence and posts were torn down.

The second crash, involving two cars, was at Route 22 and the Canal Road about one mile west of Circleville at 10:10 a. m.

Thomas Boyer, 63, of 115 E. Mill St., suffered possible fractured ribs and abrasions of the ankle when his auto collided with an auto driven by William R. Claypoole, 29, Loveland.

Deputy Radcliff said Boyer's car, headed west on Route 22, had pulled over to the right to allow cars to pass from the rear before attempting to make a left turn onto Canal Road.

After the last rear car had passed Boyer attempted to make the turn but his vehicle was struck broadside by Claypoole's auto which was approaching from the opposite direction The deputy said both cars were heavily damaged.

Flip of Coin, Lots Settle Election Ties

In the vote tie for trustee of Wayne Twp., in the recent election, H. L. Parmer won the post on a flip of the coin with Serman Dowden. This is the usual procedure in case of a tie between two candidates.

Board of Elections chairman, John Himrod, also supervised the coin flip in Muhlenberg Twp. between board of education opponents Arthur Westbury and Norman O'Conner. The luck of the Irish held up with O'Conner the winner.

The procedure in the case of three or more candidates tied for an elective office is to draw lots. The lot winner was W. L. Mason, for a seat on the Orient council. Unlucky drawers were Lyle Walters and Frank McMillen.

In the races for constable, which were mostly write-ins, there were several ties. H. B. Bumgarner won in Walnut Twp. by drawing lots with opponents Elmer Stout, William Scothorn and Edgar May.

Paul Congrove won the flip in Washington Twp. against Walter Richards, while K. A. Shepler made the right call on the flip of the coin with James Search for constable of Pickaway Twp. Wayne Twp.'s Harry J. Cupp drew the winning lot, but immediately signed a statement refusing to accept his newly won position. Defeated candidates were Clarence McAbee, Percy May, and Fred Owens. The Wayne Twp. trustees will now have to decide on the constable.

• • •

LESS COMPLICATED constable elections were held in the other townships and the winners include:

Robert Walters of Darby Twp.; Harry Hosler of Deercreek Twp.; Glenn Clay of Harrison Twp.; Wayne E. Brown of Madison Twp.; Robert Brace of Monroe Twp.; Carl Martin of Muhlenberg Twp.; Joe Kirk of Perry Twp.; Fred Fetherolf of Saltcreek Twp., and James Walker of Scioto Twp.

Harry B. Timmons was elected constable for Circleville Twp. in an unopposed race.

Jackson Twp. has no constable at the present time.

Polly's Dad To Appear on Bergen Show

Mr. and Mrs. William Bergen, Rose Terrace Apts. N. Court St., parents of TV star Polly Bergen, left Wednesday by plane for New York City. Bergen will appear on his daughter's television program as guest artist in the near future.

Mrs. Bergen thinks her husband will probably appear two weeks from this Saturday. Bergen, who is in the construction business, is not exactly a newcomer to show business. He has appeared at many night clubs in California, chiefly as a guitar playing cowboy.

"Singing", Mrs. Bergen explained, "has always been more or less a hobby with him—just a part time job while he was on construction."

The Bergens are not staying with Polly. "A little too much hustle and bustle around there", says Mrs. Bergen.

"Plan to stay on in New York? Well, I should say not," said Mrs. Bergen. "I love Circleville."

MRS. BERGEN herself has frequently appeared in the past with her husband, but she is absolutely through with public appearances. "Not for a million dollars," she said and added, "with Polly in show business, that's enough excitement".

Bergen is looking forward to the spotlight when he appears on the Polly Bergen Show. As yet he does not know just what has been planned for him.

Ike's Offer to Adlai Seen Bid To Stall Partisan Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration hopes to limit partisan debate on some major foreign issues by bringing Adlai Stevenson into preparation of plans for next month's Allied summit conference in Paris.

The Democratic leader has accepted a bid from the Republican administration to come here next Monday and confer with Secretary of State Dulles. The State Department presumably hopes to have tentative proposals for the NATO meeting worked out by then.

The invitation to Stevenson and his acceptance were the latest moves in a cautious political and policy negotiation designed to revive bipartisanship in foreign affairs in the face of Russia's gains in military power.

How well the effort will succeed in forestalling sharp party controversy when Congress returns in January depends mainly on two critical factors:

1. The extent to which President Eisenhower and Dulles consult with Stevenson in detail and accept his ideas in shaping policy.
2. The degree of support Stevenson can muster among Democratic leaders in Congress for any plans to which he may decide to commit himself.

• • •

RESULTS OF the Monday meeting, which could also lead to a talk between Stevenson and Eisenhower, may show clearly how much bipartisan cooperation exists.

Stevenson himself has reserved his right to criticize proposals with which he disagrees.

Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio) says the forthcoming NATO conference will be called upon to solve problems "of such grave nature bipartisan action."

Lausche's remarks were made after the selection of Stevenson as consultant in shaping the NATO program.

Eisenhower has already declared he would seek changes in U. S. law to permit sharing atomic secrets with Allied nations.

The administration is also expected to ask for an increase in funds available, either as loans or grants, for foreign aid.

Airmen Ask Public To Relax; No Animals Injured in Tests

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP)—Dog lovers in the U.S. set up a howl when they learned the Russians had sent up a dog in Sputnik II.

It's understandable. In our country we grow up with the idea "a man's best friend is his dog."

Then came a shocking revelation.

About two weeks ago it was learned a New York game farm was sending four bears to the Air Force Missile Development Center at Alamogordo. For use in experiments!

There was another loud howl from the public. "You can't mistreat those poor bears! It's inhuman!"

Air Force information men reassured Mr. and Mrs. America that the bears were not going to be sent up in artificial satellites.

It was explained they have a bone structure much like man's. So they were going to be used in other experiments.

There are human volunteers galore, the Air Force says, who are willing to go through such tests for the eventual benefit of man. Col. John P. Stapp, chief of the aero-medical laboratory at the missile center, is one. He rode a rocket sled 632 miles an hour a few years ago and slammed to a violent stop — for the sake of science.

But scientists believe it's easier on man to use animals in such experiments and estimate from the results what would happen to a man in a like case.

Then came a report a pig had died in a demonstration. The story was that it had been fastened in a catapult-like sled and sent down a track to a violent stop such as a human might undergo in a head-on auto collision. It was to show auto makers how safety devices can save lives in accidents.

"Do you have to write anything about it?" was the anguished cry from the Air Force.

"We'd be missing an interesting point if we ignored the fact, wouldn't we?"

So out went the story. And an anxious young lieutenant chased after Col. Stapp to find out what to tell the easily offended public.

Col. Stapp came back with the assurance most of the risk was still being taken by men, although there was a bear in the act.

The public could relax again. There was no dead pig.

Educator Says U.S. Cannot 'Decree' Study

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — The federal government "cannot decree the study of science," Henry T. Heald, president of the Ford Foundation, said today.

"Perhaps it should not bribe people to do so," he told the annual meeting of the Council of Chief State School Officers.

Speaking 12 hours after President Eisenhower told the nation America must produce more scientists to keep pace with Soviet Russia's scientific advances, Heald said there is much discussion about the American lag in science and technology.

"Scientists cannot be made overnight with any amount of money," he said. "They must be produced by the American school system. Curriculum decisions are made at the local level.

"A greater recognition of the importance of mathematics and science in the high schools will result in revision of requirements and procedures. This can be influenced by state superintendents."

The Council of Chief State School Officers is composed of the superintendents of public education in the 48 states.

Record-Setting Flights Show New Power of U. S. Air Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force today pointed to the record-setting flights of a jet tanker plane as evidence that its far-reaching striking power must not be downrated in this dawning missile era.

The KC135 jet tanker hops to Buenos Aires and back were part of an apparent Air Force demonstration of strength and mobility.

There also were distance flights of bombers and fighters far into the Pacific, and a group of B52 intercontinental jet bombers stated on a visit to Argentina.

The Boeing KC135 and its crew, headed by Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, received special welcome here Wednesday after flying 5,204 miles from Buenos Aires in 11 hours, 5 minutes and 8 tenths of a second. This first nonstop jet flight between the Argentine capital and Washington was made at an average speed of 469.5 miles an hour.

This same ship and crew last Monday set a distance record for nonrefueled jet flight in streaking from Westover Air Force Base, Mass., to Buenos Aires—a stretch of 6,325 miles—in 13 hours, 2 minutes and 51 seconds. That flight was made over a longer range to underscore the plane's long reach.

• • •

LEMAY, AIR Force vice chief of staff, piloted the KC135 for much of both trips. He received the Distinguished Flying Cross at an airport ceremony on his arrival here. Other members of the tanker's crew also were decorated.

Two Ohioans were among aircrew members. They were Capt. Frank L. Wright of Dayton, a pilot, and First Lt. Lorne E. Carter of Cleveland, a navigator.

The Air Force also was staging other exhibitions of its distance capabilities.

Six B52 bombers headed for Buenos Aires to take part in Argentine air show later in the week. The six planes, based at Loring Air Force Base, Limestone, Maine made an interim stop Wednesday night at Homestead, Fla.

Fourteen F100C Sabre Jets reached Hickam Air Force Base, Honolulu, Wednesday after a five-hour, 2,400-mile flight from California, en route to Guam.

A flight of F100D fighter bombers from Gannon Air Force Base, New Mexico, flew to Hickam today, to be followed Friday by a group of F100 Voodoo fighters.

Wednesday, three twin-jet B66 bombers landed at Clark Air Force Base near Manila, after a nonstop transpacific flight from the United States.

Local Girl, 7, Sees Strange Object in Sky

Little Karen Eblin, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Eblin, 123 W. Mill St., came charging in from the back yard about 4:45 p. m. Tuesday, calling:

"I've just seen something I never saw before. It had two propellers, one on each end."

Thus, another believer in unidentified flying objects is in the fold.

Eblin said the incident happened about the same time as Worthington police said they saw a UFO in the sky. He said, "I was inside and heard a sound like I had never heard before. It was an engine, not a jet, but it was different. I sure wish I could have seen it. I went to the window because it sounded so strange, but couldn't locate it."

Eblin said he knew it wasn't a helicopter, since a whirlybird has a distinctive sound. He reported the object was flying about 500-1,000 feet above the ground from the way it sounded.

3 Motorists Are Fined $70

Three motorists paid fines in Circleville Municipal Court yesterday for traffic violations.

Judge Walter M. Shea fined Donald E. Williams, 35, Lockbourne Air Force Base, $25 and costs for reckless operation. He was arrested by the sheriff's department.

Johnny Stevens, 28, Chillicothe, paid $25 and costs for speeding at 75 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone and Ollie McGlone, 54, Route 1, Millbury, was fined $20 and costs for speeding at 70 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone. Both were cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Dr. Goldschmidt Buys Property

Dr. David S. Goldschmidt has purchased 443 N. Court St. and hopes to move his office there by the end of the year.

The purchase was made from Mrs. Maude A. Colwell Treat who lives in Connecticut. Goldschmidt's present office at 129 N. Court St. will be leased, but to whom is not certain yet.

Dr. Goldschmidt said he is remodeling the new property which will have office space on the first floor and an apartment on the second floor. He said the move was prompted because he needed additional office space and wished to provide parking facilities for his patients.

Flip of Coin, Lots Settle Election Ties

In the vote tie for trustee of Wayne Twp., in the recent election, H. L. Parmer won the post on a flip of the coin with Serman Dowden. This is the usual procedure in case of a tie between two candidates.

Board of Elections chairman, John Himrod, also supervised the coin flip in Muhlenberg Twp. between board of education opponents Arthur Westbury and Norman O'Conner. The luck of the Irish held up with O'Conner the winner.

The procedure in the case of three or more candidates tied for an elective office is to draw lots. The lot winner was W. L. Mason, for a seat on the Orient council. Unlucky drawers were Lyle Walters and Frank McMillen.

In the races for constable, which were mostly write-ins, there were several ties. H. B. Bumgarner won in Walnut Twp. by drawing lots with opponents Elmer Stout, William Scothorn and Edgar May.

Paul Congrove won the flip in Washington Twp. against Walter Richards, while K. A. Shepler made the right call on the flip of the coin with James Search for constable of Pickaway Twp. Wayne Twp.'s Harry J. Cupp drew the winning lot, but immediately signed a statement refusing to accept his newly won position. Defeated candidates were Clarence McAbee, Percy May, and Fred Owens. The Wayne Twp. trustees will now have to decide on the constable.

• • •

LESS COMPLICATED constable elections were held in the other townships and the winners include:

Robert Walters of Darby Twp.; Harry Hosler of Deercreek Twp.; Glenn Clay of Harrison Twp.; Wayne E. Brown of Madison Twp.; Robert Brace of Monroe Twp.; Carl Martin of Muhlenberg Twp.; Joe Kirk of Perry Twp.; Fred Fetherolf of Saltcreek Twp., and James Walker of Scioto Twp.

Harry B. Timmons was elected constable for Circleville Twp. in an unopposed race.

Jackson Twp. has no constable at the present time.

Polly's Dad To Appear on Bergen Show

Mr. and Mrs. William Bergen, Rose Terrace Apts. N. Court St., parents of TV star Polly Bergen, left Wednesday by plane for New York City. Bergen will appear on his daughter's television program as guest artist in the near future.

Mrs. Bergen thinks her husband will probably appear two weeks from this Saturday. Bergen, who is in the construction business, is not exactly a newcomer to show business. He has appeared at many night clubs in California, chiefly as a guitar playing cowboy.

"Singing", Mrs. Bergen explained, "has always been more or less a hobby with him—just a part time job while he was on construction."

The Bergens are not staying with Polly. "A little too much hustle and bustle around there", says Mrs. Bergen.

"Plan to stay on in New York? Well, I should say not," said Mrs. Bergen. "I love Circleville."

• • •

MRS. BERGEN herself has frequently appeared in the past with her husband, but she is absolutely through with public appearances. "Not for a million dollars," she said and added, "with Polly in show business, that's enough excitement".

Bergen is looking forward to the spotlight when he appears on the Polly Bergen Show. As yet he does not know just what has been planned for him.

Reno's Worker Photo Law Being Expanded

RENO (AP) — The City Council listened patiently to complaints that an ordinance requiring the photographing for work permits of Chinese employed in gambling houses was discriminatory.

So it passed a new ordinance requiring that everyone be photographed.

Police Chief T. R. Berry said he needed photographs because he couldn't tell one Chinese from another.

Ike's Offer to Adlai Seen Bid To Stall Partisan Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration hopes to limit partisan debate on some major foreign issues by bringing Adlai Stevenson into preparation of plans for next month's Allied summit conference in Paris.

The Democratic leader has accepted a bid from the Republican administration to come here next Monday and confer with Secretary of State Dulles. The State Department presumably hopes to have tentative proposals for the NATO meeting worked out by then.

The invitation to Stevenson and his acceptance were the latest moves in a cautious political and policy negotiation designed to revive bipartisanship in foreign affairs in the face of Russia's gains in military power.

How well the effort will succeed in forestalling sharp party controversy when Congress returns in January depends mainly on two critical factors:

1. The extent to which President Eisenhower and Dulles consult with Stevenson in detail and accept his ideas in shaping policy.

2. The degree of support Stevenson can muster among Democratic leaders in Congress for any plans to which he may decide to commit himself.

• • •

RESULTS OF the Monday meeting, which could also lead to a talk between Stevenson and Eisenhower, may show clearly how much bipartisan cooperation exists.

Stevenson himself has reserved his right to criticize proposals with which he disagrees.

Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio) says the forthcoming NATO conference will be called upon to solve problems "of such grave nature bipartisan action."

Lausche's remarks were made after the selection of Stevenson as consultant in shaping the NATO program.

Eisenhower has already declared he would seek changes in U. S. law to permit sharing atomic secrets with Allied nations.

The administration is also expected to ask for an increase in funds available, either as loans or grants, for foreign aid.

Airmen Ask Public To Relax; No Animals Injured in Tests

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP)—Dog lovers in the U.S. set up a howl when they learned the Russians had sent up a dog in Sputnik II.

It's understandable. In our country we grow up with the idea "a man's best friend is his dog."

Then came a shocking revelation.

About two weeks ago it was learned a New York game farm was sending four bears to the Air Force Missile Development Center at Alamogordo. For use in experiments!

There was another loud howl from the public. "You can't mistreat those poor bears! It's inhuman!"

Air Force information men reassured Mr. and Mrs. America that the bears were not going to be sent up in artificial satellites.

It was explained they have a bone structure much like man's. So they were going to be used in other experiments.

There are human volunteers galore, the Air Force says, who are willing to go through such tests for the eventual benefit of man. Col. John P. Stapp, chief of the aero-medical laboratory at the missile center, is one. He rode a rocket sled 632 miles an hour a few years ago and slammed to a violent stop — for the sake of science.

But scientists believe it's easier on man to use animals in such experiments and estimate from the results what would happen to a man in a like case.

Then came a report a pig had died in a demonstration. The story was that it had been fastened in a catapult-like sled and sent down a track to a violent stop such as a human might undergo in a head-on auto collision. It was to show auto makers how safety devices can save lives in accidents.

"Do you have to write anything about it?" was the anguished cry from the Air Force.

"We'd be missing an interesting point if we ignored the fact, wouldn't we?"

So out went the story. And an anxious young lieutenant chased after Col. Stapp to find out what to tell the easily offended public.

Col. Stapp came back with the assurance most of the risk was still being taken by men, although there was a bear in the act.

The public could relax again. There was no dead pig.

Fourteen F100C Sabre Jets reached Hickam Air Force Base, Honolulu, Wednesday after a five-hour, 2,400-mile flight from California, en route to Guam.

A flight of F100D fighter bombers from Gannon Air Force Base, New Mexico, flew to Hickam today, to be followed Friday by a group of F100 Voodoo fighters.

Wednesday, three twin-jet B66 bombers landed at Clark Air Force Base near Manila, after a nonstop transpacific flight from the United States.

Local Girl, 7, Sees Strange Object in Sky

Little Karen Eblin, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Eblin, 123 W. Mill St., came charging in from the back yard about 4:45 p. m. Tuesday, calling:

"I've just seen something I never saw before. It had two propellers, one on each end."

Thus, another believer in unidentified flying objects is in the fold.

Eblin said the incident happened about the same time as Worthington police said they saw a UFO in the sky. He said, "I was inside and heard a sound like I had never heard before. It was an engine, not a jet, but it was different. I sure wish I could have seen it. I went to the window because it sounded so strange, but couldn't locate it."

Eblin said he knew it wasn't a helicopter, since a whirlybird has a distinctive sound. He reported the object was flying about 500-1 000 feet above the ground from the way it sounded.

3 Motorists Are Fined $70

Three motorists paid fines in Circleville Municipal Court yesterday for traffic violations.

Judge Walter M. Shea fined Donald E. Williams, 35, Lockbourne Air Force Base, $25 and costs for reckless operation. He was arrested by the sheriff's department.

Johnny Stevens, 28, Chillicothe, paid $25 and costs for speeding at 75 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone and Ollie McGlone, 54, Route 1, Millburry, was fined $20 and costs for speeding at 70 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone. Both were cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Dr. Goldschmidt Buys Property

Dr. David S. Goldschmidt has purchased 443 N. Court St. and hopes to move his office there by the end of the year.

The purchase was made from Mrs. Maude A. Colwell Treat who lives in Connecticut. Goldschmidt's present office at 129 N. Court St. will be leased, but to whom is not certain yet.

Dr. Goldschmidt said he is remodeling the new property which will have office space on the first floor and an apartment on the second floor. He said the move was prompted because he needed additional office space and wished to provide parking facilities for his patients.

School Heads Attend Meeting

County Superintendent George McDowell attended a State meeting of school administrators, board members and superintendents yesterday along with Circleville school administrators, George Hartman and Virgil Cress.

McDowell was co-chairman of the committee which presented the topic, School Economies.

Their widowed mother, Mrs. Clarence Graves, escaped from the first floor, but was unable to save her daughters.

A brother, Russell, 26, crippled because of an amputated leg, rolled himself down the stairway, crawled to his car, drove to the home of another brother, Clarence Jr., to turn in the alarm.

Seas Come to the Midwest

The city of Toledo, O., was recently chosen as the site of its 1959 convention by the National Conference of Editorial Writers.

There would seem to be little about this manufacturing town of 300,000 population on the southwestern corner of Lake Erie that would attract a convention of this type.

Except for one thing.

In 1959 the St. Lawrence Seaway is scheduled to be opened and Toledo is one of the Great Lakes cities which will be vitally affected. By promising the editorial writers group a full program based on the impact of the St. Lawrence Seaway on the nation's economy, Toledo was able to wrest the convention site designation away from much larger and more favored cities such as Chicago and Indianapolis.

This incident is cited as evidence of the meaning of this great maritime project for the central area of the United States. It will put the entire Midwest hundreds of miles closer to a full-fledged seaport — which Chicago, for instance, will be when ocean steamships are able to come up the St. Lawrence and through the chain of Great Lakes.

This will overcome many of the Midwest's transportation and rate disadvantages as compared to the East Coast. Much more will be heard about the St. Lawrence Seaway in the years just ahead.

Success Brings Some Dangers

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Marlon Brando, at 32 a figure of world recognition, is an actor in search of his life role.

He has been phenomenally successful. He says this about the impact of success on him:

"I have not been so impressed so much by how I have changed as I have been by other people's attitudes toward me."

Brando is a full-lipped, short-haired, wide-hipped man who in a few short years has become perhaps the most acclaimed actor since John Barrymore, gifted with a talent as recognized among fellow actors as by the public.

In his 11th film, "Sayonara," he plays a young American jet flier who discovers, for him at least, that it is better to marry the Japanese girl he loves than to leave her behind. He is a Southerner. The theme of the film is how love can rise above race prejudice.

The picture is based on the novel by James Michener. There are rumors around that Brando himself may make a million dollars from the film.

He says, aside from money, that Hollywood has done itself and America a disservice because too often it is potentially the best possible instrument of communication with foreign people—but has failed to communicate.

"The time has come when the people abroad are not disposed to take foreign snobbery any longer from anybody," he said.

"It behooves us to do what we can to improve our relations with other people who, in a short time, we may find our lives interdependent with."

After an overseas stint during which he made two pictures in Japan and toured southeast Asia, Brando feels that people in those areas judge America by its movies and that the movies, by more realistic dramas about world problems and prejudices, can improve mutual understanding and fare well also at the box office.

"It's a lack of experience with other people that makes them seem strange," he said.

Brando himself has made one kind of adjustment to a fame that has been spectacular, but even among his fellow actors is accepted as well earned by talent and performance.

"I have given up stating the pros and cons about myself," he said. "I'd just as soon let people come to their own conclusions and let it go at that."

Brando today is a pleasant, wary, self-guarded, unsure, impulsive, multimillion-dollar property still exploring his moat.

Asked how success had affected his life, he said:

"It's a dangerous position from the standpoint of maintaining a sensible perspective on yourself in relation to other people.

"People hate you for no other reason than that you are successful, and they like you for no other reason."

Fightless War

The issue is war; the problem is not defense, it is survival.

These are the cruel facts which this generation faces and it might just as well gird itself for them. There are no alternatives, for even if actual shooting should not come, the cost of maintaining a state of war will be continuous. Every time a rocket is shot millions of dollars of American earnings go up in smoke. Those who still believe that we might find an alternative to war in the conflict between the West and Marxism are capable of ignoring the facts of life.

War is the extension of international relations from diplomacy to the use of force after diplomacy has failed. The United States is behind Soviet Russia today because charitable elements in the population and government believed that Soviet Russia would eventually forego the Leninist principle of world conquest; also, cowardly elements in the population believed that the cost of preserving this nation would be too great in lives and treasure to be worth while; also subversive elements were advocating delay and practising sabotage in the interest and on behalf of the enemy.

Therefore, we are behind. We have the intelligence; we have the engineering skill and scientific knowledge not to have fallen behind. But selfishness and cowardice prevailed and the cupidity of politicians played with fate and we fell behind. Dr. Von Braun, who should know, says that we are about five years behind; in 1945, we were perhaps half a century ahead of the world. This, however, is a matter of opinion and need not scare us.

Destructive

By George Sokolsky

A weapon is an instrument of destruction. Its value depends upon three principal factors — the total amount that it can destroy in area and human life at the least cost; the amount of propulsion necessary to remove the user of the weapon from the area of destructiveness; and the degree to which it can be limited to doing damage to the enemy without doing damage to the user.

For instance, biologic warfare is not a true weapon because it cannot be limited to the enemy; a plague might turn around and destroy the user as well. Chemical warfare presents a similar peril.

Perhaps the earliest weapons were scratching, biting and pummeling. They were limited in the amount of damage done; the combatants faced each other and the likelihood is that both were damaged. When some bright lad discovered the value of the cudgel, he placed himself at a greater distance from his opponent and was able to use more force in his blows. The lance was an improvement on the budgel, but the rock and the machines devised to throw rocks and then to throw fire were great improvements because they increased the destructiveness of weapons and the distance between the user and the enemy.

Eventually came gun powder and a whole series of improvements, particularly in the size of weapons and in the means of transportation — the use of the horse, the elephant, the camel, the ship, the motor-driven land vehicles, the submarine, the airplane, bombs, rockets, and Sputniks.

Always the identical principles are involved: 1. Increasing the destructiveness of a single weapon; 2. the propulsion of the destructive part of a weapon to remove it as far as possible from the user; 3. the reduction of the boomerang qualities of the weapon.

Weapons require money and labor and the cost of war is now so great that it is almost prohibitive except where slave labor is employed. War can therefore destroy all free societies without being fought; in a word, the constant preparation for war, the development of new weapons, the speed at which new weapons are adopted and old ones become obsolete — these factors can, of themselves, produce victory or defeat.

A balance of weapons may maintain what is euphemistically called peace for a prolonged period, even measured by centuries. In time, however, the cost of such an engagement can, of itself, produce defeat through a constantly lowering standard of living as more and more of a nation's wealth goes into weapon making. A by-product of this effort is some scientific knowledge.

This is where we stand in the year 1957 and let us make no mistake about it. Sen. Ellender's proposal that we go soft with Russia may have some favorable response in Soviet Russia; but the Russians will not go soft on us.

Specialists Help Readers

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Ever think about reading a newspaper from front page right through to back page?

It would be quite a job. Most persons who purchase newspapers read the main news stories, some of the features (this column among them, I hope!), the ads and the comics.

But, if you wanted to read a newspaper all the way through, how long would it take? Believe it or not, a study of this has been made.

The average 40-page newspaper contains about 150,000 words. It would take the average reader some 10 hours to read every one of them. A superior reader could complete the task in about six hours. Many of us, unfortunately, are not superior or even average readers. For those who are really slow readers it would take 16 hours or more.

This brings up the particular point I want to make:

While I don't expect you to sit down and read every word in this newspaper, I do think many of you could speed up your reading and comprehension.

Three out of every five Americans read at a lumbering pace, about 250 words per minute, or only a little faster than they speak. Even so, they comprehend only three-fourths of what they read.

As you read this column, your eyes make a series of stops. Just how many stops depends upon the number of words your eyes can seize at each fixation.

If you're a slow reader (150 words or less per minute) your eyes stop at almost every word and you will tire quickly. A faster reader takes in several words at each brief pause.

Just about all of us could speed up our reading with the help of an eyesight specialist. In some instances, a visual defect might be one of the causes for slow reading ability.

If you have any reading difficulty, better see an eye specialist.

Question and Answer

Answer: In your particular case, since you have had bleeding and have not responded to the medical management of your ulcer, surgery probably would be the best choice.

The World Today

by James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration—judging from President Eisenhower's two nationwide talks—was caught napping by the Russians.

Either that, or it needed two Sputniks to get it moving.

For weeks the administration had been working on the budget—the cost of running the country—which he will present to Congress in January.

There had been no talk of increased spending for defense or of a rush in missile and satellite development.

Then the Russians fired their Sputniks, ample testimony to the amazing progress they have made in satellites, in rockets to propel them, and in the industrial ability to produce them.

Eisenhower took to the air a week ago to reassure the country it was in no immediate danger.

But as evidence of his realization of the need for speed, he appointed a special assistant to push scientific, satellite and missile development.

And in his nationwide talk Wednesday night he called for heavier spending on defense. How much? He didn't say. Will taxes have to go up in 1958? He didn't say. One thing seems sure: they won't be coming down.

He talked of the need — as at least part of the means for meeting increased defense costs — for cutting down on the spending on domestic programs.

If he was vague on costs, it's understandable. His administration presumably was at work on a pre-Sputnik kind of budget but now, after the Sputniks, is in a scramble to revise its thinking.

Between now and the time the budget finally is unveiled before Congress, this country may be treated to a campaign of conditioning to get it ready for the spending ahead.

And since the whole country was startled by the Sputniks—and members of Congress already are talking of willingness to increase defense spending—the administration shouldn't have much trouble selling its program.

IN 58 DAYS A '58 PLYMOUTH RAN 58,000 MILES—EQUAL TO

MORE THAN TWICE AROUND THE WORLD

AND IT DROVE EVERY INCH OF THE WAY!

We knew this car was tough.

We designed it that way.

That's why we weren't afraid to give Plymouth the toughest, true test run of all time... with all America as the "track."

We didn't coddle this Plymouth. Didn't crate it and ship it carefully from place to place. Instead, we aimed it out of Los Angeles one misty morning and sent it through a course that ran 58,000 miles through 37 states.

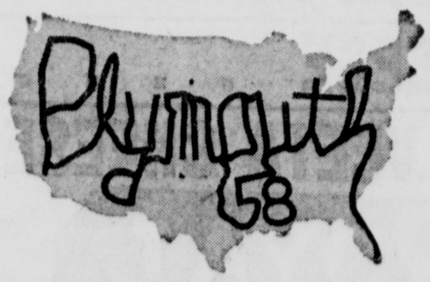
The time limit? Only 58 days.

A thousand miles a day!

The equivalent of 6 years' driving crammed into little more than 8 weeks!

Three times this car crossed the Rockies. Three times it wound its way across the country... passing through more than 1200 cities and towns. Whipping over turnpikes... creeping through city traffic... arrowing down super-highways... feeling its way through rutted detours. At the end, it still looked, ran and rode like new.

This is what lasting value really means. The ability to take everything that American roads and weather can dish out—and come up grinning. Why don't you give Plymouth a test drive yourself—today? You'll see what we mean.



That's the Plymouth "track"... and just look at that route! Every possible road and weather condition. Plymouth ran every inch of that murderous route 3 times in just 58 days. What greater proof of lasting, built-in stamina!

Star of the Forward Look... Plymouth ahead for keeps!

There would seem to be little about this manufacturing town of 300,000 population on the southwestern corner of Lake Erie that would attract a convention of this type.

Except for one thing.

In 1959 the St. Lawrence Seaway is scheduled to be opened and Toledo is one of the Great Lakes cities which will be vitally affected. By promising the editorial writers group a full program based on the impact of the St. Lawrence Seaway on the nation's economy, Toledo was able to wrest the convention site designation away from much larger and more favored cities such as Chicago and Indianapolis.

This incident is cited as evidence of the meaning of this great maritime project for the central area of the United States. It will put the entire Midwest hundreds of miles closer to a full-fledged seaport — which Chicago, for instance, will be when ocean steamships are able to come up the St. Lawrence and through the chain of Great Lakes.

This will overcome many of the Midwest's transportation and rate disadvantages as compared to the East Coast. Much more will be heard about the St. Lawrence Seaway in the years just ahead.

Success Brings Some Dangers

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Marlon Brando, at 32 a figure of world recognition, is an actor in search of his life role.

He has been phenomenally successful. He says this about the impact of success on him:

"I have not been so impressed so much by how I have changed as I have been by other people's attitudes toward me."

Brando is a full-lipped, short-haired, wide-hipped man who in a few short years has become perhaps the most acclaimed actor since John Barrymore, gifted with a talent as recognized among fellow actors as by the public.

In his 11th film, "Sayonara," he plays a young American jet flier who discovers, for him at least, that it is better to marry the Japanese girl he loves than to leave her behind. He is a Southerner. The theme of the film is how love can rise above race prejudice.

The picture is based on the novel by James Michener. There are rumors around that Brando himself may make a million dollars from the film.

He says, aside from money, that Hollywood has done itself and America a disservice because too often it is potentially the best possible instrument of communication with foreign people—but has failed to communicate.

"The time has come when the people abroad are not disposed to take foreign snobbery any longer from anybody," he said.

"It behooves us to do what we can to improve our relations with other people who, in a short time, we may find our lives interdependent with."

After an overseas stint during which he made two pictures in Japan and toured southeast Asia, Brando feels that people in those areas judge America by its movies and that the movies, by more realistic dramas about world problems and prejudices, can improve mutual understanding and fare well also at the box office.

"It's a lack of experience with other people that makes them seem strange," he said.

Brando himself has made one kind of adjustment to a fame that has been spectacular, but even among his fellow actors is accepted as well earned by talent and performance.

"I have given up stating the pros and cons about myself," he said. "I'd just as soon let people come to their own conclusions and let it go at that."

Brando today is a pleasant, wary, self-guarded, unsure, impulsive, multimillion-dollar property still exploring his moat.

Asked how success had affected his life, he said:

"It's a dangerous position from the standpoint of maintaining a sensible perspective on yourself in relation to other people.

"People hate you for no other reason than that you are successful, and they like you for no other reason."

Fightless War Destructive

By George Sokolsky

The issue is war; the problem is not defense, it is survival.

These are the cruel facts which this generation faces and it might just as well gird itself for them. There are no alternatives, for even if actual shooting should not come, the cost of maintaining a state of war will be continuous. Every time a rocket is shot millions of dollars of American earnings go up in smoke. Those who still believe that we might find an alternative to war in the conflict between the West and Marxism are capable of ignoring the facts of life.

War is the extension of international relations from diplomacy to the use of force after diplomacy has failed. The United States is behind Soviet Russia today because charitable elements in the population and government believed that Soviet Russia would eventually forego the Leninist principle of world conquest; also, cowardly elements in the population believed that the cost of preserving this nation would be too great in lives and treasure to be worth while; also subversive elements were advocating delay and practising sabotage in the interest and on behalf of the enemy.

Therefore, we are behind. We have the intelligence; we have the engineering skill and scientific knowledge not to have fallen behind. But selfishness and cowardice prevailed and the cupidity of politicians played with fate and we fell behind. Dr. Von Braun, who should know, says that we are about five years behind; in 1945, we were perhaps half a century ahead of the world. This, however, is a matter of opinion and need not scare us.

A weapon is an instrument of destruction. Its value depends upon three principal factors — the total amount that it can destroy in area and human life at the least cost; the amount of propulsion necessary to remove the user of the weapon from the area of destructiveness; and the degree to which it can be limited to doing damage to the enemy without doing damage to the user.

For instance, biologic warfare is not a true weapon because it cannot be limited to the enemy; a plague might turn around and destroy the user as well. Chemical warfare presents a similar peril.

Perhaps the earliest weapons were scratching, biting and pummeling. They were limited in the amount of damage done; the combatants faced each other and the likelihood is that both were damaged. When some bright lad discovered the value of the cudgel, he placed himself at a greater distance from his opponent and was able to use more force in his blows. The lance was an improvement on the budgel, but the rock and the machines devised to throw rocks and then to throw fire were great improvements because they increased the destructiveness of weapons and the distance between the user and the enemy.

Eventually came gun powder and a whole series of improvements, particularly in the size of weapons and in the means of transportation — the use of the horse, the elephant, the camel, the ship, the motor-driven land vehicles, the submarine, the airplane, bombs, rockets, and Sputniks.

Always the identical principles are involved: 1. Increasing the destructiveness of a single weapon; 2. the propulsion of the destructive part of a weapon to remove it as far as possible from the user; 3. the reduction of the boomerang qualities of the weapon.

Weapons require money and labor and the cost of war is now so great that it is almost prohibitive except where slave labor is employed. War can therefore destroy all free societies without being fought; in a word, the constant preparation for war, the development of new weapons, the speed at which new weapons are adopted and old ones become obsolete — these factors can, of themselves, produce victory or defeat.

A balance of weapons may maintain what is euphemistically called peace for a prolonged period, even measured by centuries. In time, however, the cost of such an engagement can, of itself, produce defeat through a constantly lowering standard of living as more and more of a nation's wealth goes into weapon making. A by-product of this effort is some scientific knowledge.

This is where we stand in the year 1957 and let us make no mistake about it. Sen. Ellender's proposal that we go soft with Russia may have some favorable response in Soviet Russia; but the Russians will not go soft on us.

Specialists Help Readers

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Ever think about reading a newspaper from front page right through to back page?

It would be quite a job. Most persons who purchase newspapers read the main news stories, some of the features (this column among them, I hope!), the ads and the comics.

But, if you wanted to read a newspaper all the way through, how long would it take? Believe it or not, a study of this has been made.

The average 40-page newspaper contains about 150,000 words. It would take the average reader some 10 hours to read every one of them. A superior reader could complete the task in about six hours. Many of us, unfortunately, are not superior or even average readers. For those who are really slow readers it would take 16 hours or more.

This brings up the particular point I want to make:

While I don't expect you to sit down and read every word in this newspaper, I do think many of you could speed up your reading and comprehension.

Three out of every five Americans read at a lumbering pace, about 250 words per minute, or only a little faster than they speak. Even so, they comprehend only three-fourths of what they read.

As you read this column, your eyes make a series of stops. Just how many stops depends upon the number of words your eyes can seize at each fixation.

If you're a slow reader (150 words or less per minute) your eyes stop at almost every word and you will tire quickly. A faster reader takes in several words at each brief pause.

Just about all of us could speed up our reading with the help of an eyesight specialist. In some instances, a visual defect might be one of the causes for slow reading ability.

If you have any reading difficulty, better see an eye specialist.

Question and Answer

J. K.: I have a severe duodenal ulcer which has bled on four occasions. I am 44. Is an operation necessary?

Answer: In your particular case, since you have had bleeding and have not responded to the medical management of your ulcer, surgery probably would be the best choice.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration—judging from President Eisenhower's two nationwide talks—was caught napping by the Russians.

Either that, or it needed two Sputniks to get it moving.

For weeks the administration had been working on the budget—the cost of running the country—which he will present to Congress in January.

There had been no talk of increased spending for defense or of a rush in missile and satellite development.

Then the Russians fired their Sputniks, ample testimony to the amazing progress they have made in satellites, in rockets to propel them, and in the industrial ability to produce them.

Eisenhower took to the air a week ago to reassure the country it was in no immediate danger.

But as evidence of his realization of the need for speed, he appointed a special assistant to push scientific, satellite and missile development.

And in his nationwide talk Wednesday night he called for heavier spending on defense. How much? He didn't say. Will taxes have to go up in 1958? He didn't say. One thing seems sure: they won't be coming down.

He talked of the need — as at least part of the means for meeting increased defense costs — for cutting down on the spending on domestic programs.

If he was vague on costs, it's understandable. His administration presumably was at work on a pre-Sputnik kind of budget but now, after the Sputniks, is in a scramble to revise its thinking.

Between now and the time the budget finally is unveiled before Congress, this country may be treated to a campaign of conditioning to get it ready for the spending ahead.

And since the whole country was startled by the Sputniks—and members of Congress already are talking of willingness to increase defense spending—the administration shouldn't have much trouble selling its program.

IN 58 DAYS A '58 PLYMOUTH RAN 58,000 MILES—EQUAL TO

MORE THAN TWICE AROUND THE WORLD

AND IT DROVE EVERY INCH OF THE WAY!

We knew this car was tough.

We designed it that way.

That's why we weren't afraid to give Plymouth the toughest, true test run of all time... with all America as the "track."

We didn't coddle this Plymouth. Didn't crate it and ship it carefully from place to place. Instead, we aimed it out of Los Angeles one misty morning and sent it through a course that ran 58,000 miles through 37 states.

The time limit? Only 58 days.

A thousand miles a day!

The equivalent of 6 years' driving crammed into little more than 8 weeks!

Three times this car crossed the Rockies. Three times it wound its way across the country... passing through more than 1200 cities and towns. Whipping over turnpikes... creeping through city traffic... arrowing down super-highways... feeling its way through rutted detours. At the end, it still looked, ran and rode like new.

This is what lasting value really means. The ability to take everything that American roads and weather can dish out—and come up grinning. Why don't you give Plymouth a test drive yourself—today? You'll see what we mean.

Plymouth 58

That's the Plymouth "track"... and just look at that route! Every possible road and weather condition. Plymouth ran every inch of that murderous route 3 times in just 58 days. What greater proof of lasting, built-in stamina!

French Like Decorations; There's One in Every Home

PARIS, France — Who is Monsieur Decore?

Mister Decorated is the Frenchman's name for himself, for he has long believed that he wears more insignia of distinction than any other person in the world.

Facts seem to support his view. One Frenchman in eight has been decorated. Official records reveal France has nearly 100 different awards and of these 15 million replicas have been distributed.

The red ribbon or rosette of the Legion of Honor, to cite the most famous French order, adorns 250,000 lapels. In founding this order, Napoleon Bonaparte said:

"I defy anyone to show me a republic, ancient or modern, in which there have not been distinctions. The French have only one sentiment: honor. It is necessary to feed this sentiment; it is necessary to give them distinctions."

Since Napoleon spoke these words so many persons have received the Legion of Honor award that it is in danger of losing its prestige.

* * *

AN OWNER of a shop specializing in medals said, "Any Frenchman can get a decoration. All he has to do is submit proof of his merits and petition a friendly government official. He has a good chance of getting it."

The Legion of Honor, however, cannot be held accountable for all the colored ribbons on French chests.

Napoleon III, thinking the legion insufficiently exclusive, created the "Medaille Militaire". But even this order has bestowed 600,000 medals, helping to place military decorations at the top of the list of French awards.

The fact that five million persons possess the "Croix de Guerre" and the "Croix de Combattant" led a veteran of two world wars to say:

"It's a rare Frenchman, indeed, who can't pin something on his lapel for Sundays and gala occasions. How can the ordinary person tell the difference between a medal for bravery or good conduct?"

Numerous civil decorations add to the endless flow of stars, crosses and ribbons. A million "Medailles d'Honneur du Travail" have been given for outstanding work, and 750,000 other work medals have been handed out to firemen, farmers and railroad employes.

To make sure no one is forgotten the French also bestow medals on writers, actors, policemen, musicians, professors, post office clerks, life savers and physical education instructors.

A psychologist, asked to comment on this profusion of awards, said, "The Frenchman has a decoration complex. He has a profound need to be approved by those who command him."

However, a waiter at a cafe may have really had the final word to say on his countrymen, "As long as the tricolor waves, 40 million Frenchmen will dream of the day when they'll receive an imposing document and a small box containing a medal. Monsier Decore will never die."

This is the most coveted of all French decorations, Le Grand Collier de la Legion d'Honneur—symbol of the famed Legion of Honor, created by Napoleon Bonaparte.

Underground Water Supply Said Average

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio had less rain and snow during the water year that ended Sept. 30, but the underground water supply now is about average.

The state Division of Water Wednesday said that resulted because of the large amounts of rain that fell in April, May and June. Ordinarily, underground water supplies build up the most October through March.

But this year the recharge occurred as late as June in some places.

Had the heavy rains come in January, February and March, the report says, we now would have underground water levels.

Precipitation for the year varied throughout the state, from 27.14 inches at Toledo, 4.7 inches below normal, to 46.58 inches at Cincinnati, 7.34 inches above normal. The state average, from measurements taken at eight places, was 34.4 inches, or 2.45 inches below normal.

As a whole, stream flows in the state were slightly below normal during the year. They were greater than during the 1953-55 dry period but not as high as last year.

"Flow was sufficient and distributed favorable enough so that no critical shortages were reported in any of the larger water supply impoundments," the report said.

Three wells—at Columbus, Columbus Grove and Canton—have shown lower levels each year for the last several years. Their water is used by municipalities.

"But even at the time of least pumping the levels remained well below those of five or more years ago," the report added.

Another report said rainfall last month was below normal except at Toledo and Cleveland.

Underground Water Supply Said Average

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio had less rain and snow during the water year that ended Sept. 30, but the underground water supply now is about average.

The state Division of Water Wednesday said that resulted because of the large amounts of rain that fell in April, May and June. Ordinarily, underground water supplies build up the most October through March.

But this year the recharge occurred as late as June in some places.

Had the heavy rains come in January, February and March, the report says, we now would have underground water levels.

Precipitation for the year varied throughout the state, from 27.14 inches at Toledo, 4.7 inches below normal, to 46.58 inches at Cincinnati, 7.34 inches above normal The state average, from measurements taken at eight places, was 34.4 inches, or 2.45 inches below normal.

As a whole, stream flows in the state were slightly below normal during the year. They were greater than during the 1953-55 dry period but not as high as last year.

"Flow was sufficient and distributed favorable enough so that no critical shortages were reported in any of the larger water supply impoundments," the report said.

Three wells—at Columbus, Columbus Grove and Canton—have shown lower levels each year for the last several years. Their water is used by municipalities.

"But even at the time of least pumping the levels remained well below those of five or more years ago," the report added.

Another report said rainfall last month was below normal except at Toledo and Cleveland.

Jan Sterling Likes Work; Keeps Her Trim, She Says

By ARMAND ARCHERD
Central Press Association Correspondent

HOLLYOOD — Another top glamor queen has tossed in her fake eyebrows and paint box to join the beauty brigade which prefers stark, naked realism.

It's not so frightening, however, because the gal who is stripping down to bare emotions is the gorgeous Jan Sterling, who measures in at 38-22-35, no matter what the powder and paint add. So it's a pleasure in any case to welcome her to the horde of "honest" actors.

"I'd rather be right than glamorous," said Jan as she batted her real eyelashes at us. As an example of her simple career theory, Jan illustrated her role of the embittered wife of a stevedore, in Slaughter On Tenth Avenue.

Jan easily could have played it as a flip, wise-cracking, sexy dame. However, she chose to play it as a hard-working woman, once beautiful, who now foregoes the regular beauty parlor treatments to do 'em herself and save a few pennies.

"I could have made her look sensational," Jan smiled, "but I can't play a role just to exhibit myself." (And, as you can see, she's got plenty to show). "It's a question of honesty in interpretation," she continued, "and to me, authenticity is more valuable than glamor."

* * *

WHEN THE part calls for it, Jan can pour on the sex with the best of the Hollywood beauties. And she was called upon to prove it the hard way.

Before completing Slaughter, Jan was asked to start another film, The Female Animal, with Hedy LaMarr, Jane Powell and George Nader. She accepted it and dove-tailed her schedules to work on one set in the morning and the other in the afternoon. During lunch hour she transformed herself from the stevedore's wife to a faded glamor queen of the movies.

"This happend to be a spot where it was OK to over-emphasize the glamor bit," said Jan. "So I really slapped on the agony." She made with the paint pot, rouge, eyebrow pencil, fake eyelashes, until she almost looked like a 1925 fan magazine cover!

Soon, Slaughter wound up, but while she was still batting her eyelashes in The Female Animal, a third role reared its charming head—on the same lot, fortunately! In The Magnificent Brat, Jan was to play a sophisticated, blase newshen for a big national magazine. Now, she worked days in Brat, and half the night in Animal.

For one week, Miss Sterling proved beyond all doubt that she was the most versatile—and uncompromising female star in the business. And, at that rate, she was on her way to becoming the wealthiest, too!

Jan Sterling as she appears in the role of a faded movie actress in a forthcoming film in which she co-stars.

However, for that week, she also averaged only three hours of sleep—or less, as she tried to play the magazine reporter as the typical movie girl scribe. She made her busy, efficient, yet charming, fascinating, and by all means the easiest-to-look -at member of the working press.

Thus, at the end of the six-week period, Jan had completed three feature films, and demonstrated an ability and integrity, paralleled by few femmes in films today. Bank account, too!

"A girl's got to keep occupied," she laughed, reminding us that husband Paul Douglas was in New York during her three-picture kick He was busy enough starring on Broadway in Hole in the Head.

* * *

AFTER A TOUR around the country in Here Today, Jan will join up with hubby Douglas.

"There's a tendency to become stale and flat when you hang around Hollywood all your life," she explained.

No chance of her going flat around here—next on her schedule is Hawaii. For a rest?

Nah—she's got another film job, of course, shooting in the Islands. Like she says, "a girl's gotta keep occupied!"

State Planning To Buy 27 Kelleys Isle Acres

COLUMBUS (AP)—The state plans to acquire an additional 27 acres of land on Kelleys Island in Lake Erie, Natural Resources Director Herbert Eagon reports.

The Wildlife Council has agreed to exercise an option on the land, including a strip of beach, to provide access to the lake from land previously given the state by the Cleveland Museum.

The Division of Parks expects to convert a swamp in the new tract into a harbor for small boats. The option calls for a purchase price of $100 an acre.

City Areas High In Cancer Deaths

CLEVELAND (AP) — City areas have more cancer deaths than rural Ohio areas, the state Health Department says.

Dr. Thomas Mancuso and Dr. Elizabeth Coulter made a study of the cancer death rate on the basis of death certificates between 1947 and 1951.

Cuyahoga County leads Ohio's 88 counties in the number of cases of cancer of the stomach, lung, bladder, larynx, mouth and esophagus.

Likewise, city areas in Ohio have more cancers of the lung, larynx, esophagus, mouth, bladder, brain and spinal cord.

Summit County had a higher rate of brain and spinal cord tumors than any section.

'Midstate' Road Being Studied

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—A group of Ohioans headed by Gov. C. William O'Neill traveled here from Logan, Ohio, Wednesday to look into the possibility of a "midstate" highway.

The highway would run from Lake Erie or Sandusky into West Virginia over a new Ohio River bridge built in the Huntington area. Paul Miller of Chillicothe, district engineer for the Ohio Highway Department, said $20,000 has already been earmarked for studies of the route.

Joan Tabor Becomes 'Star' Even Before Making Movie

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Joan Tabor, a luscious red-haired, green-eyed doll, has only been in town a few weeks but she could give lessons on how to become a movie star.

She has never made a movie—but she will.

Unknown outside of Chicago, where she worked as a TV actress, or her home town of Sioux Falls, S.D., Joan, in a few weeks, has most studios in town interested in her.

Here's how she did it—and, girls don't try it, unless you've got Joan's equipment.

First thing she did was hire a press agent. She liked the way Anita Ekberg's career zoomed so she called first on Miss Ekberg's press agent. He took one look and took her on on a percentage deal.

Next she sought an agent. She like the way Jayne Mansfield's career went, in a few months from $150 a week to $75,000 a picture. So Joan met William Shiffrin, who handles Miss Mansfield. Shiffrin took one look and signed her.

She like the way Marilyn Monroe progressed from starlet to her present stature as one of the better actresses. So she hired Natasha Lytess, once Marilyn's closest adviser and drama coach.

Milton Weiss, the press agent, moved fast. An old hand in the business, it was easy for him to get Joan sponsored as a deb-star at the annual ball of the makeup artists and hair stylists. It's an important publicity break because most of the town's big people attend and the girls are presented.

Bob Hope annually takes the prettiest of deb-stars for his TV show. Joan made that group and will be seen on Hope's TV show as soon as he gets his sponsor trouble ironed out.

Shiffrin, a top agent, took her around the studios. Practically everyone gave her a color screen test—red hair and green eyes are still a rare commodity.

Now the offers are coming in. Several would have turned any starlet's head but Joan is a businesswoman first, starlet second.

Her reasons are maternal. She is divorced from her husband, a Chicago broker. They share custody of their little girl. At the moment, the daughter is with the father because Joan has left Chicago.

"An actress, to exist, must either be in New York or Hollywood," she says. "I came out here to invest in myself so I can make a good income and bring my daughter out. If I don't make it, then I'll go back to Chicago and make my living modeling or selling ladies' blouses in Marshall Field's basement. My daughter is my main career."

Persistent Motorist

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Thomas Mears, 53, couldn't get away from this motorist.

Beebee Mouton's daughter examines dead panther.

Sharp-Eyed Widow Hunts for Money

By HOYT McAFEE
Central Press Association Correspondent

TEMPE, Ariz.— Yippee, pardner, and long live the wild and woolly west! At least some of the two-fisted action, ruggedness, and derring-do of the Old West survive through the spirit of Mrs. Betty Jean (Beebee) Mouton, a coed at Arizona State college. She wants to be a lawyer; and this spunky, auburn-haired, 23-year-old widow plunges full speed ahead toward achieving her goal.

Even the lack of adequate funds for her books, tuition and other fees doesn't haunt her. No one, mind you, sponsors her. No one chips in with $100 or $200 for her use. Simply, when the need arises for do-re-mi Betty Jean takes leave of her college classes and sets forth for mountain lion country.

Dressed and armed suitably for the occasion, she moves in on the object of her quest in his habitat. Some simply call him the mountain lion. To others he's known as a catamount, panther, puma and cougar. Under any name, Betty Jean can testify, he proves a tough customer to deal with.

Even though she does her hunting on horseback, she still exercises every precaution in carrying on her pursuit. She calmly waits till the right moment before squeezing the trigger. Almost always, Betty Jean points out, she brings the mountain lions down with one shot. That necessitates, she further makes clear, hitting the beasts at a vulnerable spot — squarely between the eyes.

* * *

AFTER PLAYING the female Daniel in an Arizona lions' den, Betty Jean collects the animal's head and hide. Then she hauls the carcass into Phoenix. There she finds a ready market for her "wares"—a total of $75 per animal (in the form of mountain lion bounty). After a few such trips, and a bit of luck, she has the wherewithal for her college needs —and specifically for her pre-law course.

Beebee off to classes.

Born amid the wilds of Arizona's Apache National Forest, Betty Jean—as a young girl—thrived on a "diet" of hunting parties. She, her dad, and other wild game enthusiasts bagged their share of bear, deer, elk, wild turkeys and pumas. At a later stage she performed creditably as a logging truck driver—without letting that chore "toughen" her or rob her of her essential feminine charm.

With her earnings therefrom she kept herself in high school—both in Arizona and Colorado—till she was graduated. And there was another stretch during which she served as hostess in a cocktail lounge.

Betty Jean has been married once. Her husband, an Air Corpsman, set out on an overseas mission. Somewhere along the way his plane vanished—and there has been no trace of him since. She, the widow, and the mother of one child, a daughter, has faced up to his loss courageously.

Women of U.S. Are Offered Unlimited Opportunity Now

Editor's Note: The author of the following article, Alice K. Leopold, is assistant to the U.S. Secretary of Labor for Women's Affairs.

By ALICE K. LEOPOLD
(For Jane Eads)

Few periods in history have offered women of the United States greater opportunities to participate in the mainstream of the nation's business and economic life. Women are accepting the challenge with vigor, determination, and confidence.

More than a third of the women in the population are workers, and for the past year women's employment has averaged some 21 million, a record which surpasses that of World War II by about two million. Moreover, women's achievements are not confined to numerical gains.

Increasingly, they are finding demands for their services in practically all occupations and professions. Their better qualifications, their demonstrated abilities and the need for additional workers has opened for them one door after another—doors to jobs which offer infinite variety and chances to advance.

This diversity in women's work is one of the most striking developments of recent years, a sharp contrast to the earlier days of women's employment outside of the home. It is also a trend which is extremely encouraging, particularly to the young women who are daring to prepare for, and aspire toward, careers which have been off the beaten path—that is, for women.

Evidence of the widening of job horizons for women is their greater representation in scientific and technical professions. As revealed by the last 10-year census, more women now are doctors, chemists, pharmacists, architects, draftsmen—and yes, even engineers.

Gains also have been chalked up by women in accounting, statistics and mathematics, a field of study which can lead to many specializations.

The skills of women have a great significance for all who are concerned with womanpower. They indicate that women are competent to fill many of the shortages which now exist, in technical as well as in other areas of work. Beyond that, they suggest that women—in growing numbers — can become real partners in providing the planning, the direction, and the imaginative genius which are so vital to future progress and welfare.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am a girl 22, a college graduate, earning top wages. I live with my parents, two sisters and a brother, financially comfortable, with all the family love a girl could dream of.

The problem is my fiance—call him Bob. I dated all kinds of boys in my teens; none steady, but nevertheless I received eight marriage proposals, which I politely refused, as they weren't just what I wanted.

My family moved here two years ago and after college I joined them and met Bob—a garage mechanic with a good income. He has high morals and we've been going steady 14 months. He loves me and wants to marry me, and I love him, too; but I seem so unimportant in his life!

Anything important in his life, I am the very last to know. Also, mostly he calls me only on weekends, exactly half an hour before a date. I just sit and wonder what day it will be. He never offers excuses; and if I ask why I haven't heard sooner, he will say he washed his car, or watched TV or something similar.

Nobody walks over me. I've made it clear that if Bob ever feels like breaking off, to say so. I'd hold nothing against him; better find out now than later.

He has saved $3,000 for furniture and I, in turn, am saving for a house that should be built by Spring. He discusses the house with me and is very happy that I am investing; but still he just takes it for granted. He hasn't once said thanks or otherwise voiced appreciation.

When he does these unkind things I blow a fuse and ask if he loves me or not, and always it's the same story. He'll never be first to say, "I'm sorry I didn't call." He only realizes he's done wrong after it's done. Can you understand me? Sometimes I think he figures I'm stupid enough not to notice. Please help me, as I am afraid my love for him is slowly dying.

C. B.

DEAR C.B.: Maybe the problem isn't all one-sided. Maybe you are so accustomed to being on the receiving end of love that you don't know how to go out to love, in cordial spirit, and thus make up the deficit in Bob's behavior.

If you were to give him a generous sample of radiant positive interest in the beloved, in your betrothal association, possibly he would profit by it.

Maybe you've been operating on Victorian theories of suitable conduct for an engaged girl. In that era, it was considered an indispensable part of a nice girl's courting technique to leave all overtures to the male. But things have changed — and how! Nowadays, feminine courting finesse consists in surrounding the chosen man with attentions so consistent, so various and endearing that other girls don't get a chance to enlist his interest.

If you are playing the passive waiting role, the lady-on-a-pedestal role, while needling Bob for his seeming indifference and neglect and angrily asking if he loves you or not, you are heavily handicapping yourself in relation to him. You are making it very difficult for him to feel enthusiasm for your society. In brief, you are being an awful bore.

You can't correct a man's faults by nagging about them.

So try to become the model companion you'd like him to be—and see if it makes a difference.

M. H.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Gov. O'Neill's Campaign Deficit Cut $27,500

COLUMBUS (AP)—State Republican Chairman Ray C. Bliss says Gov. C. William O'Neill's 1957 campaign deficit has been cut to about $500. The total deficit was $28,000.

Until recently the deficit stood at $6,000 but Bliss said payments in the last few days totaled approximately $5,500. He did not indicate how soon the remainder would be paid off.

No Plan Afoot To Soften Penalty of Missile Officer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army's fortunes in the satellite and missile field have changed—but not those of Col. John C. Nickerson.

Nickerson was the officer at the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, Huntsville, Ala., convicted by a court-martial on charges that he sent unauthorized persons documents containing secret material. The charges grew out of his one-man campaign against limiting Army missile activity.

At Knoxville, Tenn., last week Ray Jenkins, Nickerson's counsel at the court-martial, said the Defense Department order assigning the Army to a place in the satellite field was "complete vindication" for Col. Nickerson.

The Army also has been allowed to continue testing its Jupiter missile, for which Nickerson sought.

A check with the Army headquarters at Washington today indicated that there is no move now contemplated to soften the punishment meted out to Nickerson.

So far as can be determined, he is to continue the assignment as an "inspector of engineering facilities" in the Panama Canal Zone.

The Army ordered him there last August. In doing that, it was ordered that he must have an assignment "not associated with guided missiles or research and development in any way" and that he have access to nothing but the lowest form of classified material, "confidential."

In addition, he was relieved of holding any command position for a period of one year.

When assigned to the ballistic missile agency, Nickerson was chief of the field coordination branch.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am a girl 22, a college graduate, earning top wages. I live with my parents, two sisters and a brother, financially comfortable, with all the family love a girl could dream of.

The problem is my fiance—call him Bob. I dated all kinds of boys in my teens; none steady, but nevertheless I received eight marriage proposals, which I politely refused, as they weren't just what I wanted.

My family moved here two years ago and after college I joined them and met Bob—a garage mechanic with a good income. He has high morals and we've been going steady 14 months. He loves me and wants to marry me, and I love him, too; but I seem so unimportant in his life!

Anything important in his life, I am the very last to know. Also, mostly he calls me only on weekends, exactly half an hour before a date. I just sit and wonder what day it will be. He never offers excuses; and if I ask why I haven't heard sooner, he will say he washed his car, or watched TV or something similar.

Nobody walks over me. I've made it clear that if Bob ever feels like breaking off, to say so. I'd hold nothing against him; better find out now than later.

He has saved $3,000 for furniture and I, in turn, am saving for a house that should be built by Spring. He discusses the house with me and is very happy that I am investing; but still he just takes it for granted. He hasn't once said thanks or otherwise voiced appreciation.

When he does these unkind things I blow a fuse and ask if he loves me or not, and always it's the same story. He'll never be first to say, "I'm sorry I didn't call." He only realizes he's done wrong after it's done. Can you understand me? Sometimes I think he figures I'm stupid enough not to notice. Please help me, as I am afraid my love for him is slowly dying.

C. B.

DEAR C.B.: Maybe the problem isn't all one-sided. Maybe you are so accustomed to being on the receiving end of love that you don't know how to go out to love, in cordial spirit, and thus make up the deficit in Bob's behavior.

If you were to give him a generous sample of radiant positive interest in the beloved, in your betrothal association, possibly he would profit by it.

Maybe you've been operating on Victorian theories of suitable conduct for an engaged girl. In that era, it was considered an indispensable part of a nice girl's courting technique to leave all overtures to the male. But things have changed — and how! Nowadays, feminine courting finesse consists in surrounding the chosen man with attentions so consistent, so various and endearing that other girls don't get a chance to enlist his interest.

If you are playing the passive waiting role, the lady-on-a-pedestal role, while needling Bob for his seeming indifference and neglect and angrily asking if he loves you or not, you are heavily handicapping yourself in relation to him. You are making it very difficult for him to feel enthusiasm for your society. In brief, you are being an awful bore.

You can't correct a man's faults by nagging about them.

So try to become the model companion you'd like him to be—and see if it makes a difference.

Gov. O'Neill's Campaign Deficit Cut $27,500

COLUMBUS (AP)—State Republican Chairman Ray C. Bliss says Gov. C. William O'Neill's 1957 campaign deficit has been cut to about $500. The total deficit was $28,000.

Until recently the deficit stood at $6,000 but Bliss said payments in the last few days totaled approximately $5,500. He did not indicate how soon the remainder would be paid off.

No Plan Afoot To Soften Penalty of Missile Officer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army's fortunes in the satellite and missile field have changed—but not those of Col. John C. Nickerson.

Nickerson was the officer at the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, Huntsville, Ala., convicted by a court-martial on charges that he sent unauthorized persons documents containing secret material. The charges grew out of his one-man campaign against limiting Army missile activity.

At Knoxville, Tenn., last week Ray Jenkins, Nickerson's counsel at the court-martial, said the Defense Department order assigning the Army to a place in the satellite field was "complete vindication" for Col. Nickerson.

The Army also has been allowed to continue testing its Jupiter missile, for which Nickerson sought.

A check with the Army headquarters at Washington today indicated that there is no move now contemplated to soften the punishment meted out to Nickerson.

So far as can be determined, he is to continue the assignment as an "inspector of engineering facilities" in the Panama Canal Zone.

The Army ordered him there last August. In doing that, it was ordered that he must have an assignment "not associated with guided missiles or research and development in any way" and that he have access to nothing but the lowest form of classified material, "confidential."

In addition, he was relieved of holding any command position for a period of one year.

When assigned to the ballistic missile agency, Nickerson was chief of the field coordination branch.

The state realized $7,811,136 in taxes on this year's meetings compared with $7,048,481 last year, according to Stanley J. Bowers, state tax commissioner.

Shrimp Fleet Superstitious About Words 'Good Luck'

By FRANCES ANCKER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

HOUSTON, Tex. — Ghost ships, "jinxes" at sea and mariners' superstitions—are they a part of the dead past?

If you spend a day on a modern, Diesel-powered shrimp trawler with the men who earn their livelihood outwitting the shark-infested Gulf of Mexico, you'll find superstition rides with today's shrimp fleet like an ever-present stowaway.

Try whistling on board a shrimp trawler, and the chances are that even the most seasoned and cynical captain will turn his boat around and put you back on land.

Whistling while the boat is under way is known among the shrimp fleet men as "whistling up a wind." It's challenging fate to keep the whistler aboard. His presence might summon the wind — the brute-quick, treacherous gulf squalls that have cost many shrimpers their lives.

Several of the 65-to-80-foot trawlers have disappeared in the brief, violent storms, broken by the wind with such a thoroughness that in some cases not a plank or a splinter of wood has remained to give a clue to the fate of boat or crew.

Such a ship was the "Helen C.," out of Galveston, Tex. She was last heard from in a bitter squall, shipping water off a spot known as "the stacks." That was several years ago. No trace has been found of her since. Nor her captain. Nor her deckhand. But some shrimp fleet skippers claim to have seen the ghost ship since and approached her, only to find they could plow right through her, like mist.

• • •

THERE ARE "jinx" boats, too. Capt. John Branch, a veteran skipper who's shrimped from Florida to Texas, once was offered a boat that had been refused from Morgan City to Brownsville. The trawler, one of the finest in the shrimp fleet, had been caught in two bad squalls, run aground and consistently put into port with no shrimp hauls.

No captain had luck aboard her. Branch took her to sea, determined to "work off her jinx." In two weeks, he had the trawler paying her way. In three weeks, she was leading the fleet with her shrimp hauls. Now she's not considered a jinx boat.

How did the shrimp fleet superstitions start? What's the reason behind them? Nobody knows for sure. But some have their ideas. Take the superstition that forbids bringing a black suitcase on board a shrimp boat. It derived, some shrimpers believe, from the fact that a black suitcase was thought to resemble a coffin, and carrying such a suitcase was "bringing death aboard."

But how about the superstition that forbids the mention of alligators on board shrimp trawlers? "It probably would make more sense if superstition forbid the mentions of sharks," says John Mehos, past president of the shrimp Association of the Americas. "They're a shrimper's worst enemy. They can tear his net like a razor slicing through gauze. All he can do when they start following him is to stop shrimping or pray."

There are no superstitions about sharks, but the superstition that forbids the mention of alligators is believed to have got its start back in the days when shrimp boats were too small to navigate the gulf and had to confine themselves to the alligator-infested backwaters, where the red-eyed 'gators lay in waiting.

The superstition about never starting a voyage on Friday is based on understandable logic. Many Louisiana shrimp fleet men are French Catholics, and some who had mishaps at sea believed the bad luck came of skipping Sunday Mass by shrimping over the week-end. This probably accounts, too, for the belief among shrimpers that it is the very best of luck to start shrimping the first of the week, and sure to bring a good haul. Nobody knows why it's considered bad luck among shrimp men to say "Good luck," but they are words you'll rarely hear in the ports where the hardy but superstitious shrimp fleet men put in.

The shrimp fleet, and its 90-foot trawl nets, at anchor at Galveston, Tex.

Lima Defendant Asks Venue Change

LIMA (AP)—Attorneys for an accused murderer have asked that his trial be shifted to some other county because of publicity the case has drawn.

In asking for the change, attorneys said Ralph Forsythe, charged with killing Charles Conner August 10, would not be given a fair trial here.

Conner, about 38, was shot to death in Forsythe's home, but his body was never found. Police say they have statements from two witnesses who saw the shooting.

Lima Defendant Asks Venue Change

LIMA (AP)—Attorneys for an accused murderer have asked that his trial be shifted to some other county because of publicity the case has drawn.

In asking for the change, attorneys said Ralph Forsythe, charged with killing Charles Conner August 10, would not be given a fair trial here.

Conner, about 38, was shot to death in Forsythe's home, but his body was never found. Police say they have statements from two witnesses who saw the shooting.

Roving Reporters Find Americans To Be ONLY Ho-Hum about Sputniks

EDITORS NOTE — How does the average American feel about having a couple of Russian moons in space? Top AP reporters took samplings in two average cities.

By SAUL PETT

SHEBOYGAN, Wis. (AP) — The people in this industrial community of 45,000—"the wurst city in the world," as sausage fans know it—read about, talk about, wonder about Soviet satellites, but there is little sign of deep concern.

Mention Sputnik in Sheboygan and the first reaction is a broad grin and frequently a joke.

Among many people, a spot check of opinion showed, there is a refusal to admit that the United States is really behind the Russians in outer space or, if it is, that it will stay behind long.

"I think we're catching up with them but we're just not letting it out," said Mrs. August Miller, a waitress. "What it took them five years to make, we'll probably make in a year."

This same idea—that America is close to or even ahead of the Soviets in guided missile development but won't say so for security reasons—was expressed, also, by a lawyer, electrician and banker.

The two most worried people encountered by this reporter were David Fenske and John Kroos, both 14 and freshmen at central high.

While concerned, John was certain America would catch up:

"Russia puts out a lot more engineers and scientists than we do but we got the smarter ones. That's what our science teacher says."

"The intercontinental ballistic missiles frightens me the most," David said. "It's time we stopped bickering about money and started buildipg up our missiles program now."

"I don't think we've really been told how far we've progressed in missiles," said W. F. Schlundt, vice president of the Security National Bank.

Is there a special female reaction?

"I just haven't thought about it much," said Joyce Menice, saleswoman at Rudnick's jewelry store.

There have been no letters written to the editor of the Sheboygan Press about Sputnik. Only a few phone calls, said Harold R. Maier, managing editor.

"I'm not too disturbed," said the Rev. T. Parry Jones of the First Methodist Church.

Who will get to the moon first? The question was posed, between beers, at Chuvey's tavern.

Said Ray Zeinemann, electrician:

"I think the Russians will be the first to send a man up to the moon. After all, Russia doesn't give a damn whether he gets back."

"My opinion," said anoher beer drinker, "is I don't worry about it. Half the stuff you hear isn't true, anyway."

By RELMAN MORIN

GATLINBURG, Tenn. (AP)—When the average man in the South speaks about the Russian satellites at all today—and you don' hear much talk of them—he is more likely to joke than to express anxiety or outright fear.

For one thing, the military implications apparently are by no means widely understood. At a cigar counter in Gainesville, Ga., a few days ago, a man was saying: "They've got a gadget whizzing around out there somewhere. So what? Are they going to bomb us tomorrow?"

In Chatanooga, Tenn., a farmer said: "I just don't believe in that stuff. Sounds to me like more Russian propaganda."

In the region around the National Laboratory at Oak Ridge, Tenn., one of the centers of atomic research, the man on the street plainly reflects the attitude of scientists and technicians working nearby.

"I'm glad the Russians did it," said a man from Kingsport, Tenn. He went on to say that, in his opinion, American scientists have not been given the unhindered opportunity to develop research projects.

"They've been pushing the scientists around too long," he said. "They call them 'eggheads.' Now the Russian 'eggheads' have gone ahead of us."

The trial of Col. John Nickerson also comes into the conversation.

Nickerson, member of an Army rocket development team, was convicted recently by court-martial of failing to safeguard military secrets when he protested a defense department decision on the Jupiter program.

A Knoxville taxi driver said:

"I'm nor surprised the Russians got ahead of us. All they do in Washington is beat their gums and take the best man we've got —this fellow Nickerson—and send him to the sticks."

In a curious way, the fact the Russians put a dog inside Sputnik II seems to have impressed people in this region more than the fact that they succeeded in getting the bigger satellite into its robit.

"Think of that poor dog," said a Gatlinburg housewife. "That's a cruel thing to do."

Sputnik may have contributed to a decline in President Eisenhower's popularity in the South today.

"But it isn't only Sputnik and Little Rock," says Horace Wells, weekly newspaper publisher in Clinton, Tenn. "It's a lot of other things as well."

In short, people in this region seem more curious than alarmed about the Soviet success. Few express worry over the military potentialities.

Forger Said Facing Long Prison Stint

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Charles R. Speedie, notorious phony check passer, has been sentenced to 1 to 14 years in prison.

"You probably will serve most of this sentence," Superior Judge Lewis Drucker commented. "Any time you seek parole you will find eight other states want to extradite and prosecute you."

Speedie, arrested Sept. 5 in a Cleveland suburb and known as the "Traveler," passed $300,000 in bogus checks during a 15-year career.

Fourth of Americans Felled By Flu-Like Illness, Claim

CLEVELAND (AP)—At least one fourth of the nation's people have had to spend a day or more in bed since mid-summer because of severe colds, sore throat, Asian fly or similar upper respiratory ills, a report by a U. S. Public Health Service official showed today. There were 38 million so affected from mid-July to October.

Dr. William Stewart, assistant to the surgeon general of USPHS summarized the latest available data on the Asian flu situation before the 85th annual meeting of the American Public Health Assn.

"Slight to moderate increases in mortality (that is, above normal seasonal rates) chiefly among older persons, have occurred in several places where epidemics are in progress."

He said that "future spread of the epidemic can be anticipated in essentially all parts of the country not now affected," and added:

"A high national incidence can be expected to continue for a period of six to eight weeks. The Public Health Service urges that vaccination against influenza be promoted vigorously."

Stewart said some idea of the prevalence of Asian flu could be derived from reports obtained in connection with the national health survey, in which the Bureau of the Census interviewed a representative national sample of households for the Public Health Service.

The resulting estimates indicate, he said, that during the period from July 15 to October 5 there were an estimated 38 million people with acute respiratory diseases severe enough to cause them to go to bed.

Stewart said that during the week ended October 12, an estimated 8.8 million persons throughout the country had colds, sore throats, influenza or similar diseases severe enough to put them to bed. The average number of persons in bed each day that week as a result of these illnesses was about 3 million. A great many of these cases undoubtedly were Asian flu.

Akron National Guard AWOLs Tossed in Jail

AKRON (AP)—A local outfit of the Ohio National Guard is cracking down on absentees. It jailed nine of them, who will get a hearing Thursday night.

All are members of Battery D, 182nd Antiaircraft Artillery.

The nine, ranging in age from 17 to 19, were jailed over the weekend for "gross absenteeism," said Capt. Leland C. Frazier.

Lake Erie-Ohio River Canal Plan Revived

WASHINGTON (AP)—An effort is being made to revive an old plan to link the Ohio River and Lake Erie with a canal.

Rep. Clark (D-Pa) said today he has asked the Army Engineers to draft a resolution for presentation to Congress. If adopted, it would direct the engineers to prepare a report "adequate in scope to enable Congress to appropriate money for the construction of locks and dams" for the canal.

An Ohio canal of this type was approved by Congress as far back as 1935, but has been consistently fought ever since by railroads and other industries in the area.

Clark told a reporter one of the chief opponents of the canal is the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Aides of Sen. Martin (R-Pa) said Martin is scheduled to attend a luncheon of businessmen at the Duquesne Club in Pittsburgh next Tuesday. They said that a number of problems will be discussed, probably including the canal.

Clark said the project, which involves widening and deepening of the Mahoning and Beaver Rivers in Ohio and Pennsylvania, would cost more than one billion dollars.

He said that with the St. Lawrence Seaway fast becoming a reality, many industries in the eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania would experience "a step forward in their economic life" if such a canal were built.

Akron National Guard AWOLs Tossed in Jail

AKRON (AP)—A local outfit of the Ohio National Guard is cracking down on absentees. It jailed nine of them, who will get a hearing Thursday night.

All are members of Battery D, 182nd Antiaircraft Artillery.

The nine, ranging in age from 17 to 19, were jailed over the weekend for "gross absenteeism," said Capt. Leland C. Frazier.

Lake Erie-Ohio River Canal Plan Revived

WASHINGTON (AP)—An effort is being made to revive an old plan to link the Ohio River and Lake Erie with a canal.

Rep. Clark (D-Pa) said today he has asked the Army Engineers to draft a resolution for presentation to Congress. If adopted, it would direct the engineers to prepare a report "adequate in scope to enable Congress to appropriate money for the construction of locks and dams" for the canal.

An Ohio canal of this type was approved by Congress as far back as 1935, but has been consistently fought ever since by railroads and other industries in the area.

Clark told a reporter one of the chief opponents of the canal is the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Aides of Sen. Martin (R-Pa) said Martin is scheduled to attend a luncheon of businessmen at the Duquesne Club in Pittsburgh next Tuesday. They said that a number of problems will be discussed, probably including the canal.

Clark said the project, which involves widening and deepening of the Mahoning and Beaver Rivers in Ohio and Pennsylvania, would cost more than one billion dollars.

He said that with the St. Lawrence Seaway fast becoming a reality, many industries in the eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania would experience "a step forward in their economic life" if such a canal were built.

Midwest Grid Expert Picks Iowa over OSU

But if Bucks' Clark In Shape, It May Be Different, He Says

By JERRY LISKA

Midwest AP Sports Editor

CHICAGO (AP) — The November wind blows no good, so we will steer the midwest football weathervane this way:

Iowa 14, Ohio State 13—We see tall corn waving victoriously at Columbus, Ohio, signalling a second consecutive Big Ten championship for Iowa's Hawkeyes. If Don Clark, the Buckeye Bullet, is in good health, though, hand us the Dunce cap. Two teams, Wisconsin and Purdue had Ohio State measured for size, but couldn't whistle across the right punch. If the Hawkeyes get within the 10-yard line, they'll deliver the mail. This should be a bruising showdown between Ohio State's ground-chewing attack and Iowa's ground-granite defense.

Wisconsin 21, Illinois 19—The Illini scored their two big upsets, against Minnesota and Michigan, at home. This game will be Wisconsin's Homecoming and the bolting Badgers, who have surprising depth for a young team, will be primed to roll. Each club has a 2-3 Big Ten record, Wisconsin having scored a 23-14 triumph over Purdue which defeated Illinois 21-6. Illini Bobby Mitchell and Badger Danny Lewis could have an interesting ball-carrying duel.

Oklahoma 20, Notre Dame 7—The Sooners, sallying forth for their 48th consecutive victory, will have loud support from the home folk. You can hardly hear a touchdown drop at Norman, Okla. An Irish shortcoming is lack of speed, both on offense and defense. Oklahoma is plenty swift in both departments, as you'll see on TV Saturday afternoon. This would be a grand spot for Terry Brennan's lads to score an upset. But the Sooners will be out to improve on Michigan State's 34-6 spanking of the Irish. People down Oklahoma way are tired of hearing about what a terrible Lion's den is the Big Ten.

Michigan State 14, Minnesota 7—MSU's Spartans need this one to preserve their Rose Bowl, if not Big Ten title chance. Just as Iowa against Ohio State, the Spartans will be closing their Big Ten card against the Gophers. The Spartans won't forget last year's 14-13 setback by Minnesota which knocked them from title contention. After rosy pre-season dreams, the Gophers are struggling to finish with a winning Big Ten mark, now standing 3-3. Mended Bob Blakley could give MSU trouble.

Purdue 18, Northwestern 7—The roof has fallen in on the Wildcats, now winless in seven starts. All season, Purdue has been one of the best "losing" clubs in the Big Ten, if not the country. The Boilermakers outplayed Ohio State the entire second half last Saturday. They also handed Michigan State its only loss of the season, 20-13.

Michigan 30, Indiana 6—Indiana is like the chap who stooped to tie his shoelace in front of an elephant parade. Coach-in-charge Bob Hicks deserves a medal for bravery. The Wolverines emerged from their 20-19 setback at Illinois with ruffled feelings. They won't need to catch their own kickoffs against the Hoosiers.

Boston College 19, Marquette 7—Coach Johnny Druze of Marquette got the Warriors perking with some pro stuff—slot back and split ends — against Penn State. But that won't be enough to stave off the 19th straight Warrior setback.

Utah's Glue-Finger Halfback Leads U.S. as Pass Receiver

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Want a pass caught? Throw it in the direction of stubby Stuart Vaughan, the smallest man on Utah's football team but big man in pass receptions, with 41, in major college statistics released in New York today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau.

The 5-8 senior halfback has caught a half dozen more than anyone else, averaging better than five a game, and is within reach of the top total in five years. Vaughan also could become the fourth major college player ever to latch on to 50 passes in a single season by maintaining his average against Utah's last two opponents, Air Force and Utah State.

Other statistics leaders this week are SMU's Dave Sherer in punting, Oregon State's Sterling Hammack in punt returns, Utah State's Overton Curtis in kickoff returns and Army's Bob Anderson in scoring.

Vaughan, who has wrapped up at least four passes in all but one of his eight games, is the only major college player in the nation with three receptions in each game played.

And with Lee Grosscup, the nation's No. 1 passer, doing the tossing, Vaughan is a pretty good bet to make the 50 club.

Dayton's Fred Dugan is second in this year's race with 35 receptions, one more than Washington State's Don Ellingsen—who has a similar margin over Garry Kapp of Utah State.

Sherer has only a slight edge in the punting derby, averaging 44.0 yards to the 43.5 mark of Tennessee's Bobby Gordon.

Curtis has returned 17 kickoffs for 536 yards, good enough for the title since Clarence Bruton of Marquette, the No. 2 man, has totaled only 310 yards on 12. Hammack has rolled 253 yards returning 21 punts, but Arizona State's Bob Mulgado, with only half as many, is just 14 yards behind.

Anderson leads in scoring with 78 points. LSU's Jim Taylor is second with 68. Anderson also leads in touchdowns with 13.

Utah's Glue-Finger Halfback Leads U.S. as Pass Receiver

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Want a pass caught? Throw it in the direction of stubby Stuart Vaughan, the smallest man on Utah's football team but big man in pass receptions, with 41, in major college statistics released in New York today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau.

The 5-8 senior halfback has caught a half dozen more than anyone else, averaging better than five a game, and is within reach of the top total in five years. Vaughan also could become the fourth major college player ever to latch on to 50 passes in a single season by maintaining his average against Utah's last two opponents, Air Force and Utah State.

Other statistics leaders this week are SMU's Dave Sherer in punting, Oregon State's Sterling Hammack in punt returns, Utah State's Overton Curtis in kickoff returns and Army's Bob Anderson in scoring.

Vaughan, who has wrapped up at least four passes in all but one of his eight games, is the only major college player in the nation with three receptions in each game played.

And with Lee Grosscup, the nation's No. 1 passer, doing the tossing, Vaughan is a pretty good bet to make the 50 club.

Dayton's Fred Dugan is second in this year's race with 35 receptions, one more than Washington State's Don Ellingsen—who has a similar margin over Garry Kapp of Utah State.

Sherer has only a slight edge in the punting derby, averaging 44.0 yards to the 43.5 mark of Tennessee's Bobby Gordon.

Curtis has returned 17 kickoffs for 536 yards, good enough for the title since Clarence Bruton of Marquette, the No. 2 man, has totaled only 310 yards on 12. Hammack has rolled 253 yards returning 21 punts, but Arizona State's Bob Mulgado, with only half as many, is just 14 yards behind.

Anderson leads in scoring with 78 points. LSU's Jim Taylor is second with 68. Anderson also leads in touchdowns with 13.

Michigan Staters Leading in Big Ten

CHICAGO (AP) — The Michigan State Spartans, who end their Big Ten football campaign Saturday against Minnesota, have taken over as leader in both offense and defense, conference statistics showed today.

MSU, with a 4-1 league record, gained top ranking although not playing a conference game last week. While previous leaders, Ohio State and Iowa, were defeating Purdue and Minnesota, respectively, the Spartans were trimming Notre Dame.

MSU's average of 359.4 yards on total offense per game shades Iowa's 359.0 and Ohio State 351.6. The Spartans' average yield to opponents of 188.6 compares to Iowa's 197.6.

OSU Underclass Players Hailed

COLUMBUS (AP)—The underclassmen on his football team are making Ohio State coach Woody Hayes look like a prophet.

Hayes said at the start of the season that much of the Buckeye fortunes would depend on his juniors and sophomores developing.

In the past weeks, junior center Danny Fronk, sophomore end Jim Houston and sophomore tackle Jim Marshall have been singled out for praise by fans and coaches. They, like sophomore center-fullback Bob White and junior tackle Dick Schafrath, seem to be the reason Hayes says:

"Our underclassmen are giving us good football; they've been bringing us through."

Ohio State's Grid Salary Plan Debated

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dr. Joseph Kaplan, UCLA representative in the Pacific Coast Conference, has recommended that college athletes be given the "full ride"—tuition, books, board and room.

Dr. Kaplan, who also is chairman of the U. S. Commitee for the International Geophysical year, offered his views at a news conference following a Bruin Varsity Club banquet Wednesday.

The educator endorsed in part the stand taken by Ohio State University faculty men who say a re-definition of amateurism is needed in college sports.

"I don't think an athlete should come out of college with a profit, but I also don't think he should take a loss. He should receive the essentials — board, room, books and tuition," he said.

Dr. Kaplan called the Ohio State recommendation a move in the right direction.

Speaking on the same subject, Red Grange, famed as the "Galloping Ghost" of Illinois in the mid-1920s, called the Southeastern Conference's grant-in-aid scholarship program the "perfect solution for college athletes."

Grange said he was taking a middle view between no aid for athletes and a full salary suggested by Ohio State.

Grange said he thinks college athletes should be helped through school in some way without making it necessary to work.

"You can't go to school, play football, practice football and work too. Let's be honest," he said.

However, Grange said he "wouldn't go so far as that Ohio State group suggests in putting football players on a salary from gate receipts."

Boxscore Glamour Hit by Pro Coach

CINCINNATI (AP)—Coach Bobby Wanzer of the Cincinnati Royals of the National Basketball Assn. today had considerable to say about "boxscore glamour."

"It's more crippling than the flu," said Wanzer, whose team has lost four straight games after winning its two opening contests.

"A fan checks a boxscore and sees where a player racked up a lot of points," Wanzer said. "He immediately decides the player has played a terrific game, while actually the player may have given away more points than he scored. Players themselves sometimes start checking the boxscores and begin pumping up shots every time they get the ball. They catch boxscore glamour."

Spartans To Defend Cross-Country Title

CHICAGO (AP) — Michigan State defends its Big Ten cross country championship at Washington Park's four-mile course here Friday.

Running against the Spartans in the Big Ten and Central Collegiate Conference meet will be Ohio State, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Minnesota.

Forty-nine jockeys won races at the 1957 Monmouth Park meeting at Oceanport, N. J.

Here Are More News Briefs From Midwest Grid Camps

CHICAGO (AP)—Midwest Football Briefs:

Iowa—Once again Forest Evashevski had his Hawkeyes practice behind closed gates. Knee injuries nursed by tackle Alex Karras and end Don Norton were not so serious as first believed.

Ohio State—No change was reported in the condition of star halfback Don Clark. It's still a 50-50 chance he'll play against Iowa Saturday. Halfback Don Sutherin returned to workouts but was limping.

Michigan State—The Spartans are working on shaking loose their fast backs and send their ends out for long passes. Scouts reported Minnesota is a potentially good team.

Minnesota—Coach Murray Warmath had his Gophers work on both offense and defense. Tackle Frank Youso and guard Paul Barrington missed the drill because of injuries.

Illinois—The Illini skipped the usual Tuesday scrimmage but are expected to have a contact session today. Tackle Carl Johnson remained in the hospital for observation after suffering a concussion against Michigan.

Wisconsin—The Badgers looked pretty sharp in drills for the Illinois game. Coach Milt Bruhn said he expected the team to be up for the game.

Michigan — Pass defense was stressed in the Wolverine camp where the squad began learning about Indiana's side-saddle-T. The Wolves are expected to be in top condition for Saturday.

Indiana—With the loss of three fullbacks through one means or another, Indiana has only one able bodied fullback left. He's Junior Chuck Kelly. The Hoosiers held a 30-minute offensive scrimmage

Purdue—New line and backfield combinations were employed by Purdue in hopes of improving the team's scoring punch. Guard John Jardine returned to drills after a 10-day layoff.

Northwestern—Ben Napolski, a regular end last season who was switched to tackle, will be back at end for the Purdue game. Napolski has been out of action for two weeks because of injuries.

Notre Dame — Rehearsals for Oklahoma included the polishing up of the Irish passing attack and slot offense. End Gary Myers and guard Bob Gaydos will miss the game because of injuries.

Marquette — Coach Johnny Druze was satisfied with his Warriors after they went through a rugged defensive scrimmage against Boston College plays. Back in action for the first time in three weeks was fullback Frank Mestnik.

Machen Eyes Title Bout After Victory

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A title fight, low blows and possibilities of retirement formed boxing topics today after undefeated heavyweight Eddie Machen slammed and battered Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson into surrender.

The 195-pound Machen, 25, of Redding, Calif., wants the championship bout with Floyd Patterson. He has an added talking point since his televised fight with Jackson Wednesday night goes into the record as a 10th-round TKO, the same as Patterson scored over Jackson in July.

Jackson and Manager Lippe Briedbart declared Eddie hit several low blows in taking his 24th straight victory. Machen said he didn't hit below the belt knowingly. Referee Frankie Carter didn't assess any penalties.

With Jackson's right eye puffed closed at the end of the 10th, Briedbart called Carter over to view the damage and Frankie stopped it. The fight was scheduled for 12 rounds.

"I recommend that the fight be stopped," said Briedbart. Asked if he would have Jackson retire after the two consecutive batterings by Patterson and Machen, Lippe replied: "He'll have to take a long rest."

The Hurricane, from St. Albans, N. Y., who weighed his heaviest at 201 for this one, had little to say. Asked what he thought Machen could do against Patterson, he said only, "It'd be a good fight. Who'd win? I dunno."

GOODBY, GREENTREE! — After 11 years as contract rider for the Greentree Stables, veteran star jockey Ted Atkinson severs his connection with that famous turf outfit. Parting was amicable. (International)

The longest nine-inning game in 1957 in the National League lasted three hours and 34 minutes. The rivals were the Chicago Cubs and Brooklyn Dodgers in Brooklyn on July 21.

Massillon-McKinley Winner To Get Bell

CANTON (AP)—The bell from a retired steam locomotive wi go to the winner of the traditional football game between Stark County high school rivals Canton McKinley and Massillon.

The trophy, donated by the Nickel Plate Railroad, will be retained each year by the winning team.

In eight previous seasons as coach of the UCLA football team, Coach Henry (Red) Sanders' Bruins won 58 games, lost 17 and tied 1.

Citizens Protest May Stall Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The deadline for dropping flies in the Los Angeles Dodgers' baseball ointment is today—and citizens protesting the Chavez Ravine real estate deal say they are set to unload a whopper.

A group called the Committee to save Chavez Ravine for the People says it has collected at least 51,787 reasons why the Dodgers may not be playing there in the forseeable future.

The committee said that before the 5 p. m. deadline a petition with more than the required 51,787 signatures to force a public election on the city's Chavez Ravine deal will be filed with the City Election Commission.

Jim Paxson, former University of Dayton basketball star now with the Cincinnati Royals, scored 418 points in 66 games with the Minneapolis Lakers last season.

Calumet Farm has had five of the 20 winners of the famous $50,000 Preakness Special. They were Whirlaway, Twilight Tear, Fervant, Armed and Citation.

Texas has failed to score in only one of its 39 football meetings with Arkansas.

Michigan Staters Leading in Big Ten

CHICAGO (AP) — The Michigan State Spartans, who end their Big Ten football campaign Saturday against Minnesota, have taken over as leader in both offense and defense, conference statistics showed today.

MSU, with a 4-1 league record, gained top ranking although not playing a conference game last week. While previous leaders, Ohio State and Iowa, were defeating Purdue and Minnesota, respectively, the Spartans were trimming Notre Dame.

MSU's average of 359.4 yards on total offense per game shades Iowa's 359.0 and Ohio State 351.6. The Spartans' average yield to opponents of 188.6 compares to Iowa's 197.6.

Boxscore Glamour Hit by Pro Coach

CINCINNATI (AP)—Coach Bobby Wanzer of the Cincinnati Royals of the National Basketball Assn. today had considerable to say about "boxscore glamour."

"It's more crippling than the flu," said Wanzer, whose team has lost four straight games after winning its two opening contests.

"A fan checks a boxscore and sees where a player racked up a lot of points," Wanzer said. "He immediately decides the player has played a terrific game, while actually the player may have given away more points than he scored. Players themselves sometimes start checking the boxscores and begin pumping up shots every time they get the ball. They catch boxscore glamour."

Here Are More News Briefs From Midwest Grid Camps

CHICAGO (AP)—Midwest Football Briefs:

Iowa—Once again Forest Evashevski had his Hawkeyes practice behind closed gates. Knee injuries nursed by tackle Alex Karras and end Don Norton were not so serious as first believed.

Ohio State—No change was reported in the condition of star halfback Don Clark. It's still a 50-50 chance he'll play against Iowa Saturday. Halfback Don Sutherin returned to workouts but was limping.

Michigan State—The Spartans are working on shaking loose their fast backs and send their ends out for long passes. Scouts reported Minnesota is a potentially good team.

Minnesota—Coach Murray Warmath had his Gophers work on both offense and defense. Tackle Frank Youso and guard Paul Barrington missed the drill because of injuries.

Illinois—The Illini skipped the usual Tuesday scrimmage but are expected to have a contact session today. Tackle Carl Johnson remained in the hospital for observation after suffering a concussion against Michigan.

Wisconsin—The Badgers looked pretty sharp in drills for the Illinois game. Coach Milt Bruhn said he expected the team to be up for the game.

Michigan — Pass defense was stressed in the Wolverine camp where the squad began learning about Indiana's side-saddle-T. The Wolves are expected to be in top condition for Saturday.

Indiana—With the loss of three fullbacks through one means or another, Indiana has only one able bodied fullback left. He's Junior Chuck Kelly. The Hoosiers held a 30-minute offensive scrimmage

Purdue—New line and backfield combinations were employed by Purdue in hopes of improving the team's scoring punch. Guard John Jardine returned to drills after a 10-day layoff.

Northwestern—Ben Napolski, a regular end last season who was switched to tackle, will be back at end for the Purdue game. Napolski has been out of action for two weeks because of injuries.

Notre Dame — Rehearsals for Oklahoma included the polishing up of the Irish passing attack and slot offense. End Gary Myers and guard Bob Gaydos will miss the game because of injuries.

Marquette — Coach Johnny Druze was satisfied with his Warriors after they went through a rugged defensive scrimmage against Boston College plays. Back in action for the first time in three weeks was fullback Frank Mestnik.

Machen Eyes Title Bout After Victory

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A title fight, low blows and possibilities of retirement formed boxing topics today after undefeated heavyweight Eddie Machen slammed and battered Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson into surrender.

The 195-pound Machen, 25, of Redding, Calif., wants the championship bout with Floyd Patterson. He has an added talking point since his televised fight with Jackson Wednesday night goes into the record as a 10th-round TKO, the same as Patterson scored over Jackson in July.

Jackson and Manager Lippe Briedbart declared Eddie hit several low blows in taking his 24th straight victory. Machen said he didn't hit below the belt knowingly. Referee Frankie Carter didn't assess any penalties.

With Jackson's right eye puffed closed at the end of the 10th, Briedbart called Carter over to view the damage and Frankie stopped it. The fight was scheduled for 12 rounds.

"I recommend that the fight be stopped," said Briedbart. Asked if he would have Jackson retire after the two consecutive batterings by Patterson and Machen, Lippe replied: "He'll have to take a long rest."

The Hurricane, from St. Albans, N. Y., who weighed his heaviest at 201 for this one, had little to say. Asked what he thought Machen could do against Patterson, he said only, "It'd be a good fight. Who'd win? I dunno."

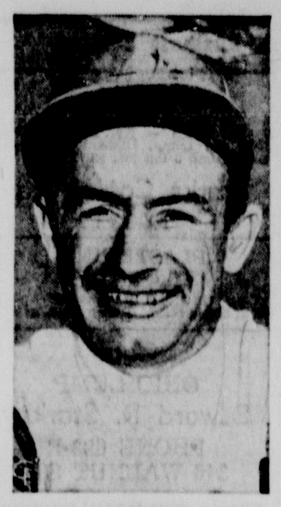
CANTON (AP)—The bell from a retired steam locomotive will go to the winner of the traditional football game between Stark County high school rivals Canton McKinley and Massillon.

The trophy, donated by the Nickel Plate Railroad, will be retained each year by the winning team.

In eight previous seasons as coach of the UCLA football team, Coach Henry (Red) Sanders' Bruins won 58 games, lost 17 and tied 1.



GOODBY, GREENTREE! — After 11 years as contract rider for the Greentree Stables, veteran star jockey Ted Atkinson severs his connection with that famous turf outfit. Parting was amicable. (International)

The longest nine-inning game in 1957 in the National League lasted three hours and 34 minutes. The rivals were the Chicago Cubs and Brooklyn Dodgers in Brooklyn on July 21.

Citizens Protest May Stall Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The deadline for dropping flies in the Los Angeles Dodgers' baseball ointment is today—and citizens protesting the Chavez Ravine real estate deal say they are set to unload a whopper.

A group called the Committee to save Chavez Ravine for the People says it has collected at least 51,787 reasons why the Dodgers may not be playing there in the forseeable future.

The committee said that before the 5 p. m. deadline a petition with more than the required 51,787 signatures to force a public election on the city's Chavez Ravine deal will be filed with the City Election Commission.

Jim Paxson, former University of Dayton basketball star now with the Cincinnati Royals, scored 418 points in 66 games with the Minneapolis Lakers last season.

Calumet Farm has had five of the 20 winners of the famous $50,000 Preakness Special. They were Whirlaway, Twilight Tear, Fervant, Armed and Citation.

Texas has failed to score in only one of its 39 football meetings with Arkansas.

Teegrardin Enters String of 15 Head

Pickaway countians have entered livestock in the International Live Stock Exposition, set for November 29 through December 7 in the International Amphitheatre at Chicago.

C. B. Teegardin and Sons, Ashville, one of the country's best known Polled Shorthorn breeding establishments, will have a string of 15 head at the show. Last year they had both reserve senior champion bull and female at the International.

Frank L. Brown, Mount Sterling, will have both fat cattle and hogs. These include an Angus steer in the live classes and two Angus steers for the carcass contest; and four Hampshire barrows, three of which will be in the carcass contest.

Carcass Classes determine yield and quality of meat after slaughter.

W. T. Shaw, Williamsport, will show an Angus heifer that will later sell in the International "Show Window" aberdeen-Angus sale.

Nine thrill-packed days will again feature grand championship judging of the world's finest breeding and fat cattle, sheep and swine in the show rings and stock yard pens. The International Carcass Contest will again spotlight high meat yields in livestock.

Defense Aide Sees Need for Tighter Setup

CINCINNATI (AP) — Reuben B. Robertson Jr., former deputy secretary of defense, declared here Wednesday night that the United States must further tighten and streamline the command structures in its defense program.

Robertson, president of the Champion Paper & Fibre Co., declared the nation must stress fundamental jobs at hand "regardless of the military services."

Those jobs, Robertson said, involve continental defense, tactical forces, support forces, research and development for the future and cooperation with allies in mutual defense efforts.

Robertson asserted that "in the urgent missile fields there is no reason whatsoever to believe that we are behind." He added that in the satellite area "it is obvious we are not ahead."

The former defense deputy declared streamlining of support forces would entail a more realistic dealing with manpower.

"Our present military compensation system must be revised to provide rewards for merit and performance rather than longevity," he said. "Certain inequities in our pay system must be cleaned up."

Before his speech, Robertson received the Cincinnati Post's annual award for distinguished ordnance service.

CROP Chairman Enlists Aides

Ministers To Help During Thanksgiving

The Rev. Samuel C. Elsea, chairman of the CROP program for Pickaway County, has placed in the hands of the ministers of the county "Canvaser Kits" for this year's CROP appeal. Mr. Elsea has asked them to contact those in their respective churches and community who will personally solicite for cash or grain from farming families.

He expressed hope that those living in towns and cities of the county would also make generous contributions of cash.

One farmer, personally approached by the Rev. Elsea, said: "It's the best possible program for it helps needy, hungry people and reduces our surplus.

The Ohio CROP provided $50,000 for distributing 12,450,000 pounds of surplus in 1956 at a value of $1,828,000. The major part of the $50,000 was raised through house-to-house canvassing at Thanksgiving time.

* * *

H. D. HECKATHOM, President of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, recently said: "For every one dollar's worth of produce or money received, CROP will distribute 200 pounds of surplus food. We, indeed, should follow the old Biblical saying, "It is more blessed to give than receive." This," said Heckathom, "will not solve the troublesome surplus problem, but it seems to me that it will make our Thanksgiving season a bit more enjoyable."

A check made to CROP and sent to the treasurer, Earl Palm, at the Second National Bank, or given to any solicitor or minister, will be carefully credited to the county program.

Builders Hoping For Change in Money Mart

Some Believe 'Tight' Situation To Ease During Next Year

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Home and office builders are watching closely for the turn of the tide in the tight money mortgage market.

Some feel sure it will come next year, making 1958 the time to build. Others are just as sure that long term financing will be as tight and expensive two or three years from now as it is today.

Those who think tight money is due to ease soon cite a fall in supply of home mortgages this year because home building is off, and also count on an expected drop next year in demand for funds for business expansion. They argue these two things will make investment funds plentiful.

The doubting thomases say that there are fewer new mortgages today simply because money is so tight and borrowing so expensive that fewer persons can afford to build houses. They say that any drop in demand for new financing by business will be more than offset by rising demand for funds by state, local and federal governments.

They add that big lenders — insurance companies, large banks and investment firms — don't expect to have more money to lend next year than this.

A drop in interest rates on long term borrowing such as mortgages for home and office buildings is called unlikely for some time, although short term interest rates may ease.

The long rise in the yields of bonds has tended to drain some money out of the lending market.

At the Chicago meeting of the National Assn. of Real Estate Boards its members reported money usually available for choice commercial buildings with interest rates still rising and much business done at 6 per cent.

George Warnecke, head of a national mortgage investment and real estate firm, says it is getting tough to find a syndicate to finance the bigger projects — as Vincent Astor found when he failed to raise a 75 million dollar mortage for his proposed skyscraper on New York's Park Avenue.

Some lenders and builders are wondering if the halt in the Astor project may be a signal that the big postwar office building boom is nearing an end.

In many parts of the country real estate prices are softening, Warnecke says, and he expects this to continue.

He also reports that in some sections builders are finding it hard to sell new houses. But he notes that almost everywhere apartment building is still booming. He thinks one reason is that rising property taxes on homes in many newly developed areas are making apartment dwelling more appealing.

Blind or disabled persons may be accompanied by a relative in enclosed voting booths in the national elections in Turkey.

CROP Chairman Enlists Aides

Ministers To Help During Thanksgiving

The Rev. Samuel C. Elsea, chairman of the CROP program for Pickaway County, has placed in the hands of the ministers of the county "Canvaser Kits" for this year's CROP appeal. Mr. Elsea has asked them to contact those in their respective churches and community who will personally solicite for cash or grain from farming families.

He expressed hope that those living in towns and cities of the county would also make generous contributions of cash.

One farmer, personally approached by the Rev. Elsea, said: "It's the best possible program for it helps needy, hungry people and reduces our surplus.

The Ohio CROP provided $50,000 for distributing 12,450,000 pounds of surplus in 1956 at a value of $1,828,000. The major part of the $50,000 was raised through house-to-house canvassing at Thanksgiving time.

* * *

H. D. HECKATHOM, President of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, recently said: "For every one dollar's worth of produce or money received, CROP will distribute 200 pounds of surplus food. We, indeed, should follow the old Biblical saying, "It is more blessed to give than receive." This," said Heckathom, "will not solve the troublesome surplus problem, but it seems to me that it will make our Thanksgiving season a bit more enjoyable."

A check made to CROP and sent to the treasurer, Earl Palm, at the Second National Bank, or given to any solicitor or minister, will be carefully credited to the county program.

Boy, 16, Accused Of Aiding Thugs

PAINESVILLE (AP)—FBI agents have arrested 16-year-old Allen R. Francis of Concord Township and charged him with aiding the three robbers who took $27,000 in a holdup of the Andover Bank Oct. 25.

Special Agent W. A. Murphy said the youth is accused of stealing an automobile in nearby Mentor the night before the bank robbery, and turning it over to the trio for their use in the crime. It was found near Lake Pymatuning a few hours after the holdup.

Murphy said the robbers had agreed to pay Francis for getting the car for them. The youth was not accused of taking part in the Andover robbery.
